* * * * * * * *

I have known Hoofland's German Bitters favorably for a number of years. I have used them in my own family, and have been so pleased with their effects, that I was induced to recommend them to many others, and know that they have operated in a strikingly beneficial manner. I take great pleasure in thus publicly proclaiming this fact, and calling the attention of those afflicted with the diseases for which they are recommended, to these Bitters, knowing from experience that my recommendation will we sustained. I do this more cheerfully, as Hoofland's Bitters is intended to benefit the afflicted, and is "not a rum drink."
Yours, truly, LEVI G. BECK.

From Rev. W. D. Seigfried, Pastor of Twelfth Baptist Church, Philadelphia.

GENTLEMEN: I have recently been laboring under the distressing effects of indigestion, accompanied by a prostration of the nervous system. Numerous remedies were recommended by friends, and some of them tested, but without relief. Your Hoofland's German Bitters were recommended by persons who had tried them, and whose favorable mention of these bitters induced me to try them. I must confess that I had an aversion to Patent Medicines, from the "thousand and one" quack "bitters," whose only aim seems to be to palm off sweetened and drugged liquor upon the community in a sly way, and the tendency of which, I fear, is to make many a confirmed drunkard. Upon learning that yours was really a medicinal preparation, I took it, with happy effect. Its action, not only upon the stomach, but upon the nervous system, was prompt and gratifying. I feel that I have derived great and permanent benefit from the use of a few bottles. Very respectfully yours,
W. D. SEIGFRIED, No. 254 Shackamaxon-st.

From A. M. Spangler, Editor of the Culturist, No. 25 North 6th-st.:

PHILADELPHIA, July 15, 1865.

Some eighteen months since I was a severe sufferer from dyspepsia. I was not only unable to take plain food without suffering great distress, but had become so debilitated as to be almost unfitted for active business of any kind.

After trying a variety of so-called remedies, all of which proved worthless, I was induced, at the suggestion of a medical friend, to give Hoofland's German Bitters a trial. I accordingly purchased six bottles, which were taken in accordance with your directions.

The result was complete removal of all distressing symptoms, after eating or drinking, and a full restoration of strength, so that I now eat all ordinary kinds of food with impunity, and am able to attend to all the active duties of a large and arduous business as well as at any period of my life. The good effects of the bitters were manifested before I had taken the first bottle.

I have also used it in my family with the happiest results, and take great pleasure in adding my testimony to that of the many others who have been benefited by them. I find great benefit from the use of a bottle in the Spring and Fall. They not only create a vigorous appetite, but give a healthy tone to the stomach, by strengthening its digestive powers.

If the above testimony will be the means of inducing any who suffer from dyspepsia to give your bitters a trial, (when it, I feel confident, will give them relief,) it is at your service. Yours truly,
A. M. SPANGLER.

From Rev. E. D. Fendall, Assistant Editor of the Christian Chronicle, Philadelphia.

I have derived decided benefit from the use of Hoofland's German Bitters, and feel it my privilege to recommend them as a most valuable tonic, to all who are suffering from general debility or from diseases arising from derangement of the liver.
Yours truly, E. D. FENDALL.

From Rev. D. Merrige, Pastor of the Passyunk Baptist Church, Philadelphia.

From the many respectable recommendations given to Dr. Hoofland's German Bitters, I was induced to give them a trial. After using several bottles I found them to be a good remedy for debility, and a most excellent tonic for the stomach. D. MERRIGE.

From Rev. Wm. Smith, formerly Pastor of the Vincentown and Millville (N. J.) Baptist Churches, Philadelphia.

Having used in my family a number of bottles of your Hoofland's German Bitters, I have to say that I regard them as an excellent medicine, specially adapted to remove the diseases they are recommended for. They strengthen and invigorate the system when debilitated, and are useful in disorders of the liver, loss of appetite, &c. I have also recommended them to several of my friends, who have tried them and found them greatly beneficial in the restoration of health.
Yours, truly, WILLIAM SMITH,

From Rev. Thos. Winter, D. D., Pastor of Roxborough Baptist Church:

DEAR SIR: I feel it due to your excellent preparation, Hoofland's German Bitters, to add my testimony to the deserved reputation it has obtained. I have for years at times, been troubled with great disorder in my head and nervous system. I was advised by a friend to try a bottle of your German Bitters. I did so, and have experienced great and unexpected relief; my health has been very materially benefited. I confidently recommend the article where I meet with cases similar to my own, and have been assured by many of their good effects.
Respectfully yours,
T. WINTER, Roxborough, Penn.

From Rev. J. S. Herman, of the German Reformed Church, Kutztown, Berks County, Penn.

RESPECTED SIR: I have been troubled with dyspepsia nearly twenty years, and have never used any medicine that did me as much good as Hoofland's Bitters. I am very much improved in health after having taken five bottles. Yours with respect, J. S. HERMAN.

UNION RATIFICATION.

Enthusiastic Indorsement of Messrs. Marshall O. Roberts and Murray Hoffman.

Speeches by Messrs. Charles S. Spencer, Frederick A. Conkling, James W. Nye of Nevada, Hiram Walbridge and William M. Evarts.

Poem by Wm. Ross Wallace, and Letters from Hon. Edwin D. Morgan, Major.-Gen. Kilpatrick, and Others.

Long before the hour of meeting last evening, the great hall of the Union General Committee, at the intersection of Broadway and Twenty-third-street, was filled almost to overflowing by Union men and women, who had come out to aid in ratifying the nominations of Mr. MARSHALL O. ROBERTS for the Mayoralty, and Mr. MURRAY HOFFMAN for the office of Corporation Counsel.

Outside the hall Prof. GRANT's calcium light, in Twenty-second-street, and a huge bonfire at the intersection of Broadway and Twenty-third-street, illuminated the square, wherein two stands had been erected for outside speakers. On one of these, with the speakers, was the Seventh Regiment Band, whose choice selections served to fill the spaces between the out-door speeches and fireworks. At 8 o'clock the square was almost impassable. A fine transparency, bearing the names of MARSHALL O. ROBERTS and MURRAY HOFFMAN above the legend, covered the front of the hall, and the interior of the room was handsomely decorated with the beautiful flag of the United States and an excellent portrait of ABRAHAM LINCOLN.

"Economy and Reform in Municipal Affairs"

On the platform, which had hardly sufficient area to accommodate the speakers and others, were Messrs. WILLIAM M. EVARTS, PROSPER M. WETMORE, A. J. DITTENHOEFER, HIRAM WALBRIDGE, HENRY G. LEASK, CHARLES H. HALL, JOHN D. OTTIWELL, JOHN M. COSTA, WILLIAM E. DODGE, Rev. WILLIAM H. BOOLE, and other eminent members of the Union party.

Promptly at 7:30 o'clock Mr. CHARLES S. SPENCER called the vast assembly to order and made a neat speech.

SPEECH OF MR. CHARLES S. SPENCER.

FELLOW UNIONISTS: At last the day is breaking. New-Jersey has surrendered—why not the City of New-York? If the Union electors of this city are true to themselves, true to their principles, true to the triumphant and glorious past of that great party which has sustained and saved this Union, the sun on the morning of Wednesday next will rise upon this, the last stronghold of the Democracy, captured and garrisoned by us. It is with pride and pleasure that I now nominate as your President one of your most distinguished and respected citizens, HON. FREDERICK A. CONKLING.

On taking the chair, Mr. CONKLING made a brief address, closing by an exhortation to stand by the ticket.

While the Chairman was speaking, the Twenty-first Ward Roberts and Hoffman Club, headed by WALLACE's Band, undertook to get into the hall. They succeeded in sending in their ornate and costly banner, with a spirited picture of MARSHALL O. ROBERTS' steamship, the Star of the West, the ship that Mr. ROBERTS tendered to the government in 1861, to bear food to ROBERT ANDERSON and his garrison in Fort Sumter.

Mr. THOMAS B. ASTEN nominated, and the meeting unanimously indorsed, the following list of Vice-Presidents and Secretaries:

Mr. A. J. DITTENHOEFER read the following resolutions, and they were adopted without a dissenting voice:

Resolved, That as the City of New-York is the great commercial emporium, as well as the Empire City of America, it is essentially necessary that its Chief Magistrate be a man known and recognized for his integrity, fidelity, honesty, ability and sterling loyalty.

Resolved, That in MARSHALL O. ROBERTS, our candidate for Mayor, we find exactly such a man. His patriotism and loyalty to the Union during the late rebellion is not questioned like that of two of the other candidates for the Mayoralty. All men of every party publicly speak in the highest terms of his character, and acknowledge that, if elected, he will discharge his duties to the best of his ability; and his past life affords to us the surest guarantee that, as Mayor of the City of New-York, he will devote his time and direct his energies and powers to procure an economical and efficient administration of the government for the best interests of all our citizens.

Resolved, That in the acceptance of Hon. MURRAY HOFFMAN of the nomination of Corporation Counsel, we have secured a candidate who is eminently qualified to fill that most important position. No jurist is more familiar with the charter and governmental laws of the City of New-York than he; and as the City of New-York is a client whose interests are of the highest and far-reaching importance, her lawyer and counsel should be a sound Judge and Jurist, and an honest man, and we know of no one better qualified to discharge faithfully, effectively and wisely the onerous duties of that office.

Resolved, That the present is an excellent opportunity to elect our candidates. The Democratic party is divided upon three nominees, two of whom were unfaithful or lukewarm to the nation in its life-struggle, and the other was nominated by the party whose "Ring" has long made it a by-word for corruption and plunder; and we feel certain that if the Union and independent voters of the City of New-York will stand by the good, capable, and honest men nominated by the Union party that carried the nation to successful triumph over division, discord, rebellion and treason, the same result will follow in the municipal election, and MARSHALL O. ROBERTS and MURRAY HOFFMAN will certainly be elected.

Letters were read, by Mr. JOHN H. WHITE, from Hon. EDWIN D. MORGAN, Maj.-Gen. JUDSON KILPATRICK and others. After which the chairman introduced who addressed the meeting as follows:

SENATOR JAMES W. NYE, OF NEVADA,

SPEECH OF HON. JAS. W. NYE.

MR. PRESIDENT AND FELLOW-CITIZENS OF NEW-YORK: When, five years ago, I left this city, I supposed I had left behind me all care or anxiety for its political action. But, Sir, I find it impossible to do so. I find, Sir, that however distant I may be from here, I fondly recur, with deep solicitude, to the results of your municipal elections. If professions are good for anything, the object of all parties in this city, at present, is to produce reform in the municipal government. The question is, where will sensible men look for reform? I look for it, fellow-citizens, in no quarter, from nation to State, and from States to municipalities, but to the great Union party, which have stood like a wall of fire in defence of this government. [Applause.] Sir, they are great reformers; they have reformed slavery out of this nation [applause]; they have reformed rebellion into lamb-like submission [applause]; they have reformed many individuals whose political sins were of a scarlet hue and clothed them in the garb of liberty-loving citizens. [Applause.] I should look to reform were I a citizen of the City of New-York, to no other party but that. Why should I? For fifteen years I recollect that the Democracy have held almost unbroken rule, and during all that time I have heard the same clamor that I hear now for municipal reform. I take it for granted, therefore, that if in that time the Democracy could not reform this city, it is time that somebody else tried to do it. [Applause.] It seems to me, fellow-citizens, in a candid review of your candidates, the true road to reform lies in the election of MARSHALL O. ROBERTS. [Applause.] Were I a citizen of New-York, I would not vote for Mr. GUNTHER, because he is too careful of his gas. [Laughter.] His sense of economy was too strong to allow his patriotism to give even an additional gas-burner to a most glorious occasion. [Laughter.] I would not vote for him because he has not been in sympathy with the great Union party of this nation during this struggle; and furthermore, I believe he has been weighed in the balance and found wanting. But I suppose he is only running for fun. [Laughter.] Were I a voter here I would not vote for Mr. HOFFMAN, because (though I am told by some that he is an excellent man) his surroundings are bad. [Applause and laughter.] I would not vote for any man, be his name GUNTHER or HOFFMAN, that has not been during these last four years stepping to the music of the Union. [Loud applause.] I would not vote for any man who is more technical than loyal, who is crying out against arbitrary arrests and suspensions of the habeas corpus, who is talking of indictments when the very atmosphere is thick with the fragments of dissolving empire. [Renewed applause.] I never would vote for one of these men until his repentence had been as deep and contrite as his sins had been flagrant and enormous. [Applause.] The men whose hands are to be on the leading strings of this government, from the nation down to the smallest town, should be hereafter of no other class than those who have kept their face Zionward during this great struggle, and for two reasons: it rewards honest loyalty and it rebukes timid disloyalty. [Loud applause.] I sometimes think, Sir, that a cowardly rebel is more to be feared than a manly, brave one. But they say their candidate for Corporation Counsel is a very eloquent man—Mr. O'GORMAN. But where, for the last four years, has his voice been heard in favor of the country of his adoption? When, with his clear, clarion notes, he could have rallied thousands of men to the rescue of his country, he was mute as the lamb before the slayer, or, if not mute, finding fault with those who were moving to the music of loyalty. [Voices, "That's so."] If he was so eloquent, Sir,

> "One blast upon his bugle horn
> Were worth a thousand men."

But these candidates are of very little consequence compared to that of the issue before you. I know, Sir, Mr. ROBERTS, the candidate of the Union party; I remember long conversations when the mutterings of this rebellion were just heard; I remember his presence in Washington, with a tender of his ships, his fortune and his person for the government, while others here were providing means, if the history of the times was true, to keep men from marching to the rescue of the capital. And it was quietly done, with no show of ostentation. I, therefore, would vote for him as transcendently better qualified than any of the other candidates. [Loud applause.] The rebellion is over, in one sense; but there may be another; and you all remember, my fellow-citizens, with what consternation this nation was struck when the indorser of HECKER's honesty, FERNANDO WOOD [laughter] was Mayor of the City of New-York when he telegraphed to the now refugee TOOMBS that the balance of power had been taken away from him, and he could not prevent the stopping of the guns from going to Georgia! You remember that occasion; and I think, Sir, it is high time to complete the work so nobly performed in this State and surrounding States, by placing this great city in harmonious action with the general and State government. I would not vote for HECKER, because he has to have his loyalty indorsed. [Applause.] A man who has to have his loyalty vouched for is not worth talking about, ["Good."] I would (as soon think of its being necessary to call witnesses to attest a person's virtue as his loyalty. A man whose status has not been ascertained during these four years of strife and conflict is not worth voting for. [Applause.] I think from what I read, that HECKER's indorsement indicates a kind of loyalty not of very much account—a kind of farina loyalty—and farina makes a very soft diet for fighting. As for his honesty, no one can entertain a doubt of that, because the late Mayor of the city has indorsed him. [Laughter.] If my friend GREELEY expects to make a good loyal man out of one of disloyal character, he expects to accomplish what nothing short of Omnipotence can perform. [Applause and laughter.] A man who has never been awakened to his duty up to this time, will never wake until it is too late to be Mayor of the City of New-York. [Applause.] The Tribune tells us that Mr. WOOD dissected the thieves of Tammany—a fit profession and a most excellent operator. [Laughter.] He will swing a skillful scalpel, for there is not a bone, vein, artery, muscle, nerve or ligature of thieving but what he is entirely familiar with and knows where it lies. [Loud laughter and applause.] As I understand it, the Union party has not the slightest objection to Mr. WOOD's continuing in the active practice of the same profession. [Renewed laughter.] Besides, I think if about half of Tammany were dissected it might improve it. It is due as the finishing touch to the grand picture which this country presents, redeemed by the Union party, that this great city should be redeemed from thraldom and sit down under its own vine and fig tree of freedom. [Applause.]

Senator NYE resumed his seat under thunders of applause; which having subsided, the Chair introduced who was cordially received. He said:

GEN. HIRAM WALBRIDGE,

Gen. H. WALBRIDGE said:

FELLOW-CITIZENS: At no former period in our municipal history has the selection of its Chief Magistrate awakened a livelier interest among our citizens than that manifested in the approaching municipal election. The termination of the tremendous civil strife through which we have passed has guaranteed the unity of the republic and demonstrated that the City of New-York in the future, as in the past, is to continue its great commercial metropolis. But if the City of New-York is to derive all the advantages resulting from her commanding geographical and commercial position, and to secure all the benefits arising from this new condition of things, the administration of our City Government should be brought in unison with the administration of the State and General Government; while, at the same time, we secure the needed economy and retrenchment in the government of its finances, and efficiency and fidelity in its legislative and sanitory departments. It is conceded upon all hands that there is a general demand by the people for reform in our city government; that such a reform is necessary and desirable; and that the people intend to support that candidate and that organization that gives them the best assurance of securing the result desired. The usefulness with which the successful candidate can advance the interests of the city in the event of his election, must be determined by the relation the party he represents holds to public events, and the views they both entertain on public questions. In this particular the impending election becomes one of unusual importance, affecting the interests of the city for years to come.

Without under-estimating the services and qualifications of any of the gentlemen who are presented by other organizations, I have come to the conscientious conviction that the best interests of the city will be promoted by the success of those candidates whose services and sympathies are most in harmony with the Federal Government at Washington, and in unison with the State Government at Albany. I therefore give the Union nominee, MARSHALL O. ROBERTS, my earnest, hearty, cordial and sincere support. I do this the more cheerfully from the thorough consciousness that the office comes to him unsought; and he yields that response to the request of his fellow-citizens to become their candidate, that every honest, intelligent citizen is bound to give whenever the public interests demand the requisite sacrifice at his hands. An irreproachable citizen in private life; rising unaided by the force of his own talents to a commanding position in the commercial world; always ready and willing to coöperate in whatever would advance the public interests; recognizing no party or clique that shall exercise over him a slavish domination; MARSHALL O. ROBERTS stands the very incarnation of commercial honor, commercial integrity and commercial enterprise—a fit representative of the commercial energy and integrity of this great commercial metropolis. In the struggle for the national life, the national exchequer was often sustained by the liberality and generosity of the merchants of this city. And ought they to feel less interest in finding themselves represented by one who has steadfastly maintained the right through every period of the contest, and who recognised no sacrifices too great, no labor too severe, no duty too arduous, if tending in any manner to maintain the success of the Union and bind together these States. In advocating the claims of MARSHALL O. ROBERTS, I especially advocate the claims of every laborer and artizan, of every manufacturer and of every citizen who gains his bread by the sweat of his brow; since MARSHALL O. ROBERTS himself rising from the ranks of the people has, by his own unaided exertion, become the rightful representative of the productive classes in the community. Do you complain of the high prices of living? Do you deplore the enormous increase of rent? Do you groan beneath the frightful weight of taxation? If so, the remedy is now presented by the success of a candidate who is pledged, so far as lays within his power, to correct the causes which have produced these evils under which we have so long suffered. Do you desire to see the administration of the City Government brought in harmony with the State and Federal Governments? If so, who so fit a representative for the city in this regard as one who has so well maintained the Union cause during the entire period of our rebellion? If you would reduce the present enormous taxation; who has so deep an interest in securing that result as one who in the protection of his own large interests gives the best guarantee that he will also see the public interests secured in this respect. But it may be urged that the poor man is not interested in taxation because he has no property on which a tax can be laid. No greater fallacy can exist. Each additional dollar of taxation laid upon the real estate of this city is in turn laid as a tariff upon the toil and labor of the community. Do you inquire how? I reply, by the increased advance in rent, in the increased prices of clothing and provisions and all the necessaries of life. Thus it is that those who fatten at the public expense and on the public exchequer indirectly rob the poor. For those who occupy tenements are necessarily subjected to every additional dollar taxation which corruption, peculation and injudicious legislation places on the real estate of the city. For when the owners of property see the administration of the City Government placed in wicked, corrupt and knavish hands, through the suffrages of those who occupy their tenements, do they not in turn transfer in the shape of increased house-rent the additional taxation thus created to those who cause such a result? Such has been the case for the last few years; and so it will continue so long as this cause exists. Is there any guarantee that a cure will be effected, unless, when the people have the power, they elect representatives who, like MARSHALL O. ROBERTS and MURRAY HOFFMAN, are pledged to effect it? It is preposterous to suppose that the Legislature at Albany will reinvest the Chief Magistrate of this city with the prerogatives that pertain to that high office, unless the incumbent furnishes a guarantee by his previous life and record that all the advantages to be derived from this high office shall be enjoyed by all the people, regardless of party and independent of faction, and unless guaranteed that the poor and industrious will be permitted to enjoy those benefits and blessings equally with those who are more fortunate, and who feel less the heavy hand of taxation resulting from the misrule, corruption and venality that has hitherto attended our municipal legislation. These guarantees, my fellow-citizens, will be furnished, in my opinion, by the success of the Union nominees on Tuesday next, when the municipal legislation of the City of New-York, by our exertions, will be placed in perfect accord with the State and Federal Governments.

Gen. WALBRIDGE was listened to with the most marked attention, and often interrupted with applause.

Mr. WILLIAM ROSS WALLACE read a fine poem that he had composed for the occasion, bearing the familiar title of his well-known patriotic verse, "Keep Step to the Music of Union."

MR. WILLIAM M. EVARTS,

being introduced, was warmly greeted. He said:

FELLOW-CITIZENS: This vast assemblage which fills this hall and now occupies the street, with tens of thousands of interested, earnest, honest citizens, attest the importance of the occasion that has brought us together. And, indeed, it is difficult to over-estimate it. I deprecate the disposition which prevails in some quarters to belittle this election and its object and the occasion. Nothing which affects the character of the Chief Magistracy of the great city of the Union can be of little importance. Proud as we are of our capital, proud of our great State, it is as the commercial and populous capital of this great country that New-York is interesting to us. It is indeed the popular heart of this mighty nation, the whole volume of whose population is thrilled and vibrates with its pulses. Now, gentlemen, it is of the utmost importance that we should set this city of ours right—right in our own esteem, right in the eyes of this loyal State, right in the eyes of the country, right in the eyes of the world, on this question of fidelity to the Union, and unison with the loyal people of the country. And we propose, at this election, to do this,—to do this in the person of our candidate; for in none others before the people can this end be accomplished. But again, gentlemen, it is of the greatest importance, if we are to accomplish any results from the election of our candidates, that they should be in unison with, that they should have confidedce in and receive confidence from, the government of this State. Do we not all know that the need of this city is not only a good magistrate, but a good frame of government? Is there any difference in parties in this opinion? Do not all complain? Do not all require that the frame of our City Government should be improved? Do not OPDYKE, and WOOD, and GUNTHER alike deplore that in their magistracy they were bereft of power? We say, then, to the citizens who ask practical or beneficial results from this election, that they should bear in mind that there must be that consent and coöperation between the State and the city, or we shall have no good government, by the election of whatever candidate. Again, it is necessary, let me say it—in spite of the feeble notions of the leading presses of the city—it is necessary, in addition to personal capacity, in order that the successful candidate be useful in his office, that that candidate should have relations with a great party that shall furnish him with support, with strength, with popular favor, and with all the means of hearty coöperation and alliance which are necessary for this great work. So far, gentlemen, from the prevalence of party spirit being the evil that we now suffer from, it is precisely the lack of party spirit, in all its generous impulses for the public good that is the cause of the evils by which private selfishness accomplishes its ends. We find, then, this inducement in the election of Mr. ROBERTS to put our city right and save us from the disgraces that have covered it, to bring it in harmony with the State Government, whence all useful powers must come; and finally, that the candidate should have the coöperation and the support of the great Union party, which is predominant in the Union as it is in the State. That being so, what shall we say of the candidates? Why, there is but one of them that can be called a Union man, as there is but one candidate of the great Union Party. MARSHALL O. ROBERTS is put forward as the candidate of the united Union Party, and is to receive the support of all loyal men, irrespective of party, in the city. [Loud applause.] We have three Democratic candidates—three Democracies. Why, one Democracy has been enough to ruin us in the City Government, and now we have three Democracies; but of this division it was truly said, that the more there are of them the better, and the less formidable they become. [Applause.] We have the Tammany Democracy, long honored by the trust of the people of this city. We have the Mozart Democracy and its candidates, and the Gunther Democracy, the candidate and the party being called by the same name. I shall compare them very briefly, one by one, and ask what promise they give to the hopes and needs of this community. I have need to say but little about Mr. GUNTHER. He has been, he is, the Mayor. Whatever he is, whatever he has done, you know. I have to say but two things bearing upon two points in which the pride and interests of this city are concerned; for it is not to be disputed, not to be obscured. He refused that the city should be illuminated in honor of the victories of the government over the rebellion. He is of the same opinion still, is honest and open in its avowal, and appeals to the citizens of New-York to reëlect him to show that they didn't wish their city to be illumiuated for victories of the government over the rebellion. On the subject of economy, of reform, of good and useful administration, the taxes are eighteen millions of dollars. What more can be said? He asks you to renew his term of office that you may renew your eighteen millions of taxes. If you like his proposition—open, clear and intelligible—the city not illuminated for victories, and eighteen millions of taxation perpetual, choose Mr. GUNTHER. [Applause.] Now, we come to Mr. HECKER, who, if he has not been Mayor himself, has been nominated, is nominated, by a man who has been Mayor, FERNANDO WOOD. [Laughter.] If he should be elected, and Mr. HECKER is asked the first question in the political catechism, "Who gave you the name of Mayor?" he would say, "My sponsor." "Who was your sponsor?" "FERNANDO WOOD." [Laughter and applause.] Now, FERNANDO WOOD in one breath laments the ingratitude of the citizens of New-York in not renominating and reëlecting himself; and then, either as an estimate of that ingratitude or as a substitute for himself, nominates JOHN HECKER for the suffrages of an ungrateful people. [Applause and laughter.] It is my wish that he may carry more with him in his political death more than he did in his political life. Is it as a final and universal curse that he seeks to give us this candidate for Mayor, who has to be satisfied as to his loyality, as to his capacity, as to his purposes, as to everything that makes up the fitness of the magistrate? Now the only striking and peculiar characteristic of Mr. HECKER for Mayor, and the great feature of his office seems to be (for according to the Tribune he will get into jail) that he is the only candidate to be relied on to go to jail. [Laughter.] Now, that I am right in calling Mr. HECKER the Mozart Democracy's candidate, I need no other evidence than his own letter in accepting their nomination, and his own speech at the public meeting with which they honored him; for he says: I understand that I owe my support to you, and you will receive my thanks. He says you are an organized body; it is by your power that I am to receive the mayoralty; these other supporters of mine are individuals following their own caprices. In other words, he says to the Mozart Democracy, you are my regular troops; these highfaluting citizens are nothing but guerrillas. [Laughter.] Well, we have Mr. JOHN F. HOFFMAN, a gentleman of education, of character, of good conduct, of ability, and of good personal views, feelings and purposes. But, gentlemen, what does Mr. HOFFMAN himself say to you in a speech made the other night? That, having been a good Recorder, he was elected again to the office by sixty thousand votes of his fellow-citizens cast in his favor. Well, gentlemen, does Mr. HOFFMAN suppose that we are such a fickle people as that sixty thousand people don't mean to vote on Tuesday to keep him Recorder and not let him be Mayor? [Applause and laughter.] Why, his whole speech is an argument for his being a good (as he is) and popular Recorder; and, as I had the honor to vote among the sixty thousand to make him Recorder, I expect to vote with sixty thousand at least to keep him Recorder through the balance of his term. [Loud applause. What a waste of public service to dismantle one branch, that of Criminal Magistrate of the City, in order to fill another place, the Mayoralty! Why not have a good Recorder and a good Mayor? [Applause.] What could be better, what wiser, what more patriotic for all the good people that want reform, than to keep Mr. HOFFMAN Recorder and make Mr. ROBERTS Mayor? [Renewed laughter and applause, and "Good!" "good!"] And they, believing all that we tell them in favor of our candidate, will readily consent that sixty thousand votes, or six hundred thousand, if necessary, shall be given to make Mr. HOFFMAN Recorder. [Renewed applause.] And if Mr. HECKER should be Mayor, and should, for his public virtue, be martyred and get into jail, what so important as to have an honest Recorder that could bail him out? [Laughter.] How would the machinations of the wicked be disappointed when HECKER should reappear, as if rescued by an angel from prison. [Laughter and applause.] But it is not JOHN HOFFMAN in his personal character that we fear as Mayor. It is Tammany that will be Mayor—Tammany that nominated, Tammany that will elect unaided, if he elects at all, and against the remonstrances of opposite parties and no-party votes. But if patriotism and duty is the object of Mr. HOFFMAO, and his backers will let him, he will stay in the Recorder's seat, where he has the knaves by the throst, and not go itto the Mayor's seat where the knaves will have him under their thumb. [Applause and laughter.] Now, what remains to be said but that Mr. MURRAY HOFFMAN, our candidate for Corporation Counsel, we have an able lawyer, an experienced magistrate, an upright man, a firm and honest and devoted friend of the Union, exhibited from the first outbreak of the rebellion down to this last moment. [Applause.] And what is against him but a union of all the Democracies upon Mr. O'GORMAN, who is so eloquent, and always at the expense of good government and of good principles. [Applause.] We have no doubt, no difficulty, no uncertainty, then, in regard to Mr. Roberts. Does anybody need an affidavit to show what Mr. Roberts is, what he has been in respect to loyalty, or for anything else? Why? Don't he own now, as he owned at the time, the first flag of the United States that was fired upon from Charleston harbor? [Applause.] His steamer, the Star of the West, was fitted out at the shortest possible notice, at the request of President LINCOLN, [loud cheers at mention of President LINCOLN's name,] to carry provisions to the starving garrison at Fort Sumter. Politicians thought that it should not be done; it might give offence and create difficulty in the Southern quarter. But, said Mr. ROBERTS to the President. Sir, we wish to succor Fort Sumter with provisions, and my steamship shall take a load to them at the earliest notice." [Loud applause.] And that flag has waved over Mr. RNBERTS' house for every victory of the government over the rebels in arms [Applause;] and that flag justly and properly shall wave over our victory next Tuesday as a new triumph over the rebellion in the election of a loyal man as Mayor of the City of New-York. [Loud applause.]

followed Mr. EVARTS, and took a general survey of the field, and found that gentlemen who had spent their time and money in the Citizens' Association now repudiated the action of that association, with all their hearts, in nominating JOHN HECKER. The speaker read a letter from Mr. MOSES TAYLOR, saying that he had resolved to vote for MARSHALL O. ROBERTS; he also read like letters from Mr. WILLIAM H. WEBB, Mr. ROE LOCKWOOD, Mr. CHARLES BUTLER and Mr. JAMES HALL, late editor of the Commercial Advertiser. Mr. DODGE passed a high eulogium upon Mr. ROBERTS, and said that the Union men of New-York intend to elect him Mayor.

Mr. C. S. SPENCER having informed the audience that a procession was to be formed to go to the dwelling of Mr. ROBERTS and salute him, and as there a speech was to be made by Major-Gen. NATHANIEL P. BANKS, on taking the rostrum, said that he would be brief. He had observed on the posters throughout the city that all of the numerous parties that had thrust candidates into the field pretended to be pledged to retrenchment and reform. In his church they were very particular concerning conversions, and as he had been taught to be careful in his inquiries on this point, he would like to know when Tammany Hall was converted to retrenchment and reform. Mr. GUNTHER had never done anything toward helping the city out of her pecuniary difficulties; but we would not blame him, as he had not the ability. As to Mr. HOFFMAN, he must become, and could not help becoming, if elected, the tool of the men that nominated him. Mr. BOOLE dealt Tammany and the Ring a fearful scathing, and proceeded to pay some attention to HORACE GREELEY and the Citizens' Association under the leadership of FERNANDO WOOD. The speaker thought that last name enough to illustrate the charecter of the Citizens' Association and of their candidate. Mr. BOOLE spoke with much vigor and created considerable merriment among the audience until a late hour, when an adjournment was made to the abode of Mr. ROBERTS, in Fifth-avenue.

REV. WILLIAM H. BOOLE

The Outside Meetings.

All the evening dense masses of citizens crowded around the two platforms in Broadway, and at one time the square was almost blockaded. We have space only to say that stirring speeches were here made for MARSHALL O. ROBERTS and MURRAY HOFFMAN, by Messrs. ISAAC DAYTON, HENRY T. RANNEY, HENRY D. LAPAUGH, GEORGE F. STEINBRENNER, CHARLES S. SPENCER, Col. FAIRMAN, HENRY S. SMITH, and others; after which, it having been announced that Gov. N. P. BANKS would address the multitude from the threshold of Mr. ROBERTS' mansion, the various ward associations, and others who were in the street, took up the line of march reaching Mr. ROBERTS' abode about ten minutes in advance of the Union men that had been inside the hall, and when the latter reached Fifth-avenue and Eighteenth-street Gen. BANKS had spoken and taken his departure. Mr. ROBERTS, however, was at home, and he was called out. A rousing round of cheers having been given him, he was introduced by Mr. SPENCER, and when comparative quiet had been restored, made a brief speech:

TO FIFTH-AVENUE,

MY FRIENDS AND FELLOW-CITIZENS: I sincerely thank you for this splendid demonstration, and for the honor that you have done me in using my name in connection with the high office of Mayor of the Imperial City of New-York. I accepted the nomination with a degree of reluctance; but if you elevate me to the proud position of Chief Magistrate of this city, I will strive to exercise the functions of Mayor for the benefit of the whole people. It shall be my aim to inaugurate an era of retrenchment and reform about the City-Hall, and in my efforts I am sure that you will second me. Again thanking you for your kindness, I shall beg you to excuse me from further speaking this evening.

Mr. ROBERTS having retired, Mr. SPENCER, in response to repeated calls, said that it was high time that the sober Republicans there assembled were at home and abed. Gen. NYE made a few remarks, and the multitude, with three parting cheers for MARSHALL O. ROBERTS and MURRAY HOFFMAN, then dispersed.

STEAM LINE TO RICHMOND, VA.—The New-York and Virginia Steamship Company's new side-wheel steamship Niagara leaves Pier No. 21, North River, this afternoon at 3 o'clock, for Norfolk, City Point and Richmond. Her consort, the Saratoga, will be put on the line in ten days, and these two fine steamships will form a semi-weekly line to the above-named points, leaving every Wednesday and Saturday.

ANOTHER RAILWAY SLAUGHTER.

Collision on the New-Jersey Central Road.

A Delayed Coal Train Run Into by an Express Train.

Seven Persons Instantly Killed and About Twenty Wounded.

EASTON, Penn., Friday, Dec. 1.

The Western Express train, which left Harrisburgh at 3 o'clock this morning, ran into a coal train at White House, N. J., on the New-Jersey Central Railroad, at about 8 o'clock this morning, killing some seven persons, and wounding ten or twelve others.

Killed—R. S. Chidsey, of Easton, Penn.; Edward Johnson, of Washington, N. J.; Mrs. Francis, of Washington, N. J.; James Tyler, of Easton, Penn.; West Mettler, of Phillipsburgh, N. J.; Edward Davis, of Belvidere, N. J.; and J. W. Edinger, of Carpentersville, N. J.

Wounded—Wm. Rex, leg broken; Mrs. Harvey, leg broken, and her child also injured; Andrew O'Neil, arm broken; W. W. Marsh, of Schooley's Mountain, about the head; Wm. Steckel, about the head; George Waller, of Newark, slightly; A. S. Strong, of East Hampton, Mass., badly about the head; Mrs. A. S. Strong, slightly; F. C. Lowthep, of Trenton, dangerously; Mr. John F. Stiger, of Clinton, N. J., both arms; W. E. Moris, of Washington, N. J., in the eyes and arm.

SECOND DISPATCH.

EASTON, Penn., Friday, Dec. 1—P. M.

The disaster occurred west of White House. A coal train going up the grade broke in half, and the rear end ran back down the grade. The express train came round the curve at full speed, and ran into it. The engineer and fireman jumped off the train, and were not injured.

The first passenger car ran through the baggage car, and all that were killed and wounded occupied this car.

The other passenger car and the sleeping car were not damaged, and no one in them hurt.

The killed are horribly mangled, and scarcely recognizable, with the exception of Mr. R. S. CHIDSEY, of Easton.

Mrs. FRANCIS, previously reported as from Washington, N. J., is from the City of New-York, and resided in West Twenty-seventh-street.

Mr. W. W. MARSH is but slightly hurt.

Mr. JAMES TYLER, killed, reported from Easton, was a resident of Calicoon, N. Y.

Mr. H. G. SMITH, of Clinton, N. J., was slightly wounded in the arm.

Mr. TITUS RICHARDS, of Rusonville, Penn., was wounded in the head and arm.

Mr. A. FLETCHER JOHNSON, of Morristown, N. J., was slightly wounded.

Mr. HARRISON BUTLER, of Allentown, Penn., was also slightly wounded.

Further Particulars of the Disaster—Full Account of the Manner in which the Collision Occurred.

EASTON, Penn., Friday, Dec. 1.

The accident reported this morning occurred about two miles west of White House, N. J.

It now appears that a coal train going East discovered a car of hay on the other track which had broken from a freight train.

The express train bound West was due, and the engineer of the coal train stopped his train and ordered the breaksman to stop the car or throw it from the track, as it was going down the grade pretty rapidly, and he desired to prevent an accident to the train coming West.

After stopping the car he started his train and found that part of it had become uncoupled. He then backed up to couple the cars, and while doing it the western express train bound east came round the curve and ran into the rear of his train.

When the engineer of the western express train discovered the coal train it was about eight hundred feet from him. He reversed his engine immediately, but could not stop the train. He saw no flag-man. He did not jump from but stuck to his engine to the last. No one on the engine or in the baggage car was injured.

The baggage-car was driven into the first passenger-car, and just swept as it were everything above the tops of the iron seat-backs.

On the bottom of the baggage-car were two pieces of timber which came directly over the seats on either side next the aisle, killing those sitting next the aisle, but doing no serious injury to those sitting next the windows.

A gentleman sitting directly in the rear of Mr. CHIDSEY saw the timber coming, and dodged his head down below the top of the seat-back, by which he saved himself from injury.

The passengers in the other part of the train sustained no injury whatever.

Some of the wounded have been brought here, and every attention is being shown them by the officers of the road.

Most of the wounds are slight.

The New-Jersey Central Railroad Disaster.

EASTON, Penn., Friday, Dec. 1.

The body of Mr. RUSSELL H. CHIDSEY, who was killed to-day, reached here this afternoon. The streets were densely thronged, and the utmost sorrow was shown by our citizens in the sad loss of one of our most influential and respected citizens.

The funeral will take place next Tuesday afternoon, at 2 o'clock.

Mr. LOWTHORP is at the American Hotel, with several others of the wounded, and, although suffering intensely, it is thought he will recover.

The following correspondence has been sent to us for publication:

NEW-YORK, Nov. 30, 1865.

Marshall O. Roberts, Esq.:

SIR: The undersigned, a committee appointed for the purpose, beg leave to inform you that at a meeting of the Central Committee of the United Service Society of the City of New-York, an organization composed of the returned citizen soldiery, you were nominated as their candidate for the Mayoralty of this city at the ensuing December election.

In communicating this notice to you the committee would add that this nomination was made after careful consideration of the merits of the opposing candidates. The selection was made upon the firm conviction of the committee that in your election not only would the best interests of the city be subserved, but that the men who risked their lives for the maintenance of our common government would find in you a fast friend. Respectfully,

J. H. HOBART WARD, late Brig.-Gen.
JOHN E. BENDIX, late Colonel Tenth.
WM. A. LYNCH, Colonel Forty-Second.
JOHN G. GARVIE,
late private Eighty-Second New-York.
FRANCIS F. REYNOLDS,
Captain Forty-second,
Chairman Committee New-York Volunteers.

NEW-YORK, Dec. 1, 1865.

GENTLEMEN: I acknowledge with much satisfaction your letter informing me that the United Service Society of the City of New-York has concurred in my nomination for Mayor.

Though I did not, like the gallant men whom you represent, take the field in defence of our government and Union, it was my privilege and pleasure to contribute to the support of the families of soldiers, to the Sanitary Commission, and to aid the government in overthrowing the rebellion.

My sympathies were strongly with the army, whose patriotism and heroism excited my admiration and gratitude. It is peculiarly gratifying, therefore, to learn I am deemed worthy of the suffrages of those who have periled their lives for their country. Very respectfully yours, M. O. ROBERTS.

To Gen. J. H. WARD, Col. J. E. BENDIX, Col. J. A. LYNCH, private GARVIE and Capt. F. F. REYNOLDS.

Respectfully,

NEW-YORK, Dec. 2, 1865.

GENTLEMEN: Your letter conveying the information that the "United Service Society" had approved of my nomination for Corporation Counsel, was a pleasant surprise. Though this demonstration in my favor, like that of the Union Convention, was unexpected, I am not insensible to the honor which the confidence of the honorably discharged soldiers of our gallant army confers. Respectfully yours,
MURRAY HOFFMAN.

STRONG DIVORCE CASE.

Evidence in Regard to the Habits of Mr. Strong.

ALL ABOUT LAKE SUPERIOR FISHING

"Don Pedro" and His Adventures---What He Ate, Drank and Did.

THE WILL OF MR. PETER STRONG

CLOSE OF THE CASE FOR THE PLAINTIFF.

Before Judge Garvin and a Jury.

The proceedings before His Honor Judge Garvin, yesterday, though comparatively brief were full of interest, and toward the close of the plaintiff's case, quite exciting. The will of old Mr. Strong was put in evidence, as were sundry leases; a beautiful engraving after Guido's celebrated picture of the "Cenci," and a snuff-box on the cover of which was a colored picture of the same. The evidence of Mr. Roosevelt was protracted and caused great merriment. After the usual formal opening, the case for the plaintiff proceeded as follows:

Mr. Cram—I offer in evidence the will of James Strong, father of the plaintiff. Do you want to see it, gentlemen?

Mr. Graham—No go on, we want it here.

Mr. Cram then read

THE WILL.

I, James Strong, of the City of New-York, merchant, being of sound and disposing mind, do make and constitute this my last will and testament:

I give and bequeath all my property and estate, both real and personal, to my Executrix and Executors, or survivors of them in trust, for the following purposes, viz.:

First—I direct them to pay my funeral charges and all debts that may be owing by me.

Second—I direct them to pay to my wife, Alletta Strong, the sum of ten thousand dollars in her own right, whenever she may call for it.

Third—I direct them to pay to my beloved wife, the said Alletta Strong, the income of my estate, or such parts thereof as she may choose to ask for, for the purpose of maintaining and supporting herself and our family of children while they continue to live with her, including their education and any other expenses she may judge proper for herself or them without accountability to any person for the same; and in case the income of my estate should be insufficient, from any cause, for the above purposes, I hereby authorize my Executors to pay to her such further sums from my estate as she may require.

The above payments I direct my Executors to make to my wife for and during her natural life, or during the time she continues to be my widow, after which said payments to cease.

I appoint my wife sole guardian of our children during the above periods, after which, in either case, I appoint my Executors their guardians, with authority to provide for their respectable maintainance out of my estate during their minorities.

I authorize my wife (and it is my wish, in case she thinks proper,) to continue to occupy my house, No. 1 Waverley-place, and keep our family together, as I should probably have done had I lived.

Fourth—After the death of my wife, or in the event of her second marriage, I then wish my estate to be divided among my children, share and share alike, on their coming of lawful age, and for that purpose I hereby authorize and direct my Executors, on the occurrence of either of the above events, immediately thereafter to pay or make over to each one of my children that may have attained the age of twenty-one years, an equal division of my estate as it shall then exist, which division may be made by my Executors in such manner and form as they shall deem proper and just, and continue to divide the remainder of my estate in same manner, to each one of my children as they shall respectively attain the age of twenty-one years, and in case any of my children should die previous to their attaining the age of twenty-one years, leaving lawful heirs of their body, such heirs on their attaining the age of twenty-one years, to be entitled to the same portion of my estate as their parent would have been, had they attained the age of twenty-one years; but in case they should leave no legal heirs of their body, then their portions to be equally divided among the other of my children.

I authorize my wife, in case she retains the use of my estate until any of our children attain the age of twenty-one years, to release to them such part of their portion in my estate as she may deem proper, if in her opinion they will make good use of it; and in case she so directs my Executors, I hereby authorize them to pay to any of my children having attained the age of twenty-one years, such part of their proportion of my estate as my wife may direct.

I hereby appoint my wife, Alletta Strong, an Executrix, and my brother, Benjamin W. Strong, my nephew, Henry S. Mulligan, and my friend, George W. Strong, Executors of this my last will and testament, with full authority and power to perform all necessary acts to carry the same into effect—to give and take deeds as trustees for any real estate they may deem proper to sell or purchase for my estate, or to make a division among my children.

Sealed with my seal and delivered as my last will and testament this twenty-ninth day of June, 1838.

JAMES STRONG.

Witnessed the testators signature by us, who also signed in the testator's presence, at his request, and in presence of each other, and declared by the testator as his last will and testament.

Mr. Cram—I offer in evidence an advertisement of the death of Alice in the Herald, Nov. 28, 1864; purporting to have taken place at Portland, Maine.

Mr. McKeon—We object, unless they can connect us with it. We know nothing of it, and believe it to be the work of the other side.

Mr. Cram—I distinctly deny any such proposition, and claim that it was done by the defendant's side.

The Court—I exclude it.

Mr. Robert B. Roosevelt, author of Lake Superior Fishing, was then called. It had been claimed by the defendant's counsel that in the book written by Mr. Roosevelt a character called "Don Pedro" was intended for Peter Strong, and that the said Don Pedro was a gay and festive individual.

EVIDENCE OF ROBERT B. ROOSEVELT.

I know the plaintiff, and have done so twenty-five years; I went to Islip in 1862 to see him; I went there in May for a day or two, and spent nights there; Mr. and Mrs. Strong used separate apartments; on the first occasion I was in Mr. Strong's room with him; this was in 1862; there were no ladies' dresses there; I think the bed was disturbed, and seemed to have been occupied by but one person; the bed was in the condition it would have been had it been occupied by but one person.

Mr. McKeon—I object.

Mr. Roosevelt—Well, the bed had been disturbed; there was no mark indicating occupation of two people; I can't give any further evidence of this interview; I knew Mrs. Strong had the back room and Mr. Strong the front room; I can't say how I knew Mrs. Strong had the back room; I didn't know there was a passage-way; I saw a door; there was something against it; I was there in September; I don't remember I was in his room; I can't say positively; I was there in October three or five days; I was then in Mrs. Strong's once or twice; I was in his room also; Mrs. Strong asked me to come into her room; I went in and saw a bed and a crib or cradle alongside; there was something against Mr. Strong's door then; I went again in December and staid several days; I passed by her door in going to my room; I saw her in her room frequently, the door being open; their conduct was—

Mr. McKeon—I object.

A.—I saw them together; saw their manner, their mode of addressing each other; he was always distantly polite.

Mr. McKeon—I object.

A.—They didn't talk much to each other; at table they spoke of the matters connected with the table; after dinner, we went to the parlor; if Peter and I didn't go out, Mrs. Strong left us in about an hour, or an hour and a half, and we didn't see her again at night; I had frequently seen them before I saw them at Islip.

Mr. McKeon—I want to be courteous and respectful to the court and counsel, but I want the court to command the opposite counsel to ask no more such questions.

The Court—Go on.

Q.—Did you see Mr. Strong with his children at Islip? A.—I did; he took the little one on his knees, played with her, told her stories, &c.; he was particularly kind to Alice, the little one; I saw him frequently take Alice on his lap and repeat to her baby stories.

Q.—Was his manner to his children affectionate, or otherwise?

Overruled and excluded.

Q.—Had you seen Mr. and Mrs. Strong together before January, 1862? A.—Yes, from time to time, but not often.

Q.—State what you saw of her conduct. A.—I can't state any distinct, absolute fact.

CROSS-EXAMINATION.

I have known him twenty-five years; am in no way related to him; nor connected with him; he has an office in the same building, No. 76 William-street; I think he came there two or three years ago; we had offices before at No. 62 William-street; we were together there four, five or six years; our offices have been together six or eight years; I am not sure Peter was there all the time; the Strong Bros. are there now; the office connection was changed last May; there used to be a pair of stairs leading from mine to his; Peter has been there almost every other day during the past year; he has been educated as a lawyer; he takes care of his mother's property; he gets to his office about 10 in the morning, and leaves at 3½ P. M.; he goes out; I don't know how much he is out; we have sported together for several years—five or six; we have had occasional sporting excursions; down to '62 we didn't go often; after that we did; we went to Superior in '63; I published a book about it; I kept a diary, and the book is part of it; "Don Pedro" refers to Mr. Strong; it's not accurate. (He read from Roosevelt's Superior Fishing:)

"Don Pedro is descended from one of what we in our young country call the old and highly respectable families, and, having been nurtured amid the refinements and luxuries of life, is one of the most gentlemanly men imaginable."

Mr. Roosevelt—That is so. [Laughter.]

"At the public rooms of a hotel, in the halls, on the piazza, in the saloon of a steamboat, he can never pass a lady, though she be a perfect stranger, without in the most deferential manner removing his hat. To this reverence for the fair sex he adds an easy elegance toward his own, that at once commands attention and respect. [This is exaggerated.]

Never having taken an active share in the world's affairs, his abilities, which are far above the average, have lain dormant, or run to criticizing art or committing poetry; and he is very apt to discuss very small matters with a minuteness and persistency that important ones scarcely merit.

He had traveled Europe, of course; had shot quail and taken trout in Long Island, fired at crocodiles on the Nile and jackals in the desert; and although probably the greatest exposure of his life had been damp sheets at a country inn, and his severest hardship the finding his claret sour or being compelled twice in one day to eat of the same kind of game, he was now seized with a sporting mania, and determined to rough it in the woods. An unsafe companion, perhaps, the reader may think; but it is not always the roughest men who have the most pluck, nor those accustomed to the commonest fare who grumble the least when offered still coarser, and there is truth in the words of worthy Tom Draw, 'Give me a raal gentleman, one as sleeps soft and eats high, and drinks the highest kind, to stand roughing it.'"

Mr. McKeon—You then went to Cleveland did you not? A.—Yes, Sir.

Q.—And brought your supplies of liquor there?

Mr. Roosevelt—(Reading)—"In Cleveland we intended to purchase such ardent spirits as we might require, and Don commenced:

'Now as to this question of liquor, I should like to have your views concerning kind and quantity?'

'Well, I expect we will be in the woods twenty days, and have made my computations on that basis; so we will need a case of liquor, and, as you prefer brandy, brandy let it be.'

'No, no; by no means,' responded Don; 'do not let my predilections influence you; besides, a dozen bottles seems a good deal. If we were gone twenty-four days it would be just a pint a day, or a half-pint apiece—rather severe, considering we expect to rough it.'

'You know we have to give the men some occasionally, and then we will meet other parties, and have mutual good luck to drink. It will not be an over supply, though we can make it less if you say so; I myself drink little when in the woods.'

'I believe that,' replied Don, ironically; 'and, considering how well I know you, it was hardly worth while to mention it. But this is a serious question, for we can get nothing drinkable after leaving Cleveland; and if we have to do what you say, do you not think we shall run short? I want plenty of everything, and it would be better to take a dozen and a half, if there is a doubt.'

'There is no doubt; but if—'

'If you say there is no doubt that is sufficient; but I am surprised you should give the men expensive brandy when they would probably prefer a coarser article.'

'Of course, we will take a common whisky for the men; but occasionally while using the flask ourselves we will naturally pass it to them.'

'Ah, yes; I understand. But, really, I am not satisfied it should be all brandy; you must not expect to have the same comforts you would in the city, and if you will take my advice, you will have at least part whisky.'

'But you prefer brandy, and one is as easy to carry as the other.'

'Really, now, you must not consult my wishes; in fact, although I admit a slight preference for brandy, many persons prefer whisky. Before you decide, it would be well to examine the matter thoroughly; and as we are now at the store, you must make up your mind promptly.'

This conversation had taken place as we were walking from the hotel to an establishment that had been recommended to us.

'Remember,' continued Don, 'you must act for the joint interest, and there are several points well worth considering. In the first place, whisky is much cheaper; then it is probably purer than the brandy you have here; if a bottle should be broken the loss is less—'

'Certainly; if you would be equally content, I should arrange it differently.'

'How often must I tell you not to consider me, and I am decidedly pleased at your change of views. Now, putting aside any supposed preference on my part, what proportions would you suggest?'

'Nine of whisky to three of brandy.'

'Ah,' gasped Don, losing his breath at the suddenness of this response, 'have you given the matter sufficient consideration? You have not even ascertained the price;' and then turning to the clerk, he asked: 'How do you sell your best whisky?'

After strolling about for several hours we reached the boat, and found the case of liquor waiting for us, and proceeded to select our stateroom. This matter rose at once to a serious question in Don's eyes. I resolved to leave it entirely to him, confident that his elegant manner would impress the steward. He at once devoted his entire attention to it, flitting from place to place in the forward and after cabins with the steward at his side, pointing out defects here, suggesting changes there, popping in and out of doors, describing his foreign experiences and the prime necessity of comfortable quarters, turning down the sheets, peering into cracks, feeling the pillows, casting a suspicious eye upon blankets, dissatisfied with all, and finally resolved to take one which could not be examined at the time for want of the key, but which the steward, who had been a respectful and sympathetic listener, assured him had none of the defects he had pointed out."

Mr. McKeon—Well, you went on; now how about Don Pedro's

WHITE SUGAR AND CHINA PLATES?

Mr. Roosevelt (reading)—"At supper that evening Don made a formal protest and complaint, insisting that he would drink no more tea till he had white sugar; he entered at some length into the characteristics and peculiarities of sugar in its various stages, questioned the advantages of using brown sugar at all, intimated that white was the best, most economical, and least bulky; advised me in future to take no other, and finally having disposed of every conceivable case but his own, inquired why, when we had abundance of both, he was not allowed the one he preferred, by which time I had it out and ready at his hand.

HOW THEY BURNED MUSQUITOES.

The musquitoes were made lively by the warmth of the fire, and under these circumstances our mode of proceeding was to close the tent, and then with a candle carefully burn them one after another. To do this successfully requires nerve and skill: the light must be approached quickly enough to catch the nimble fellows, and just far enough not to scorch the tent; the operation gave Don decided pleasure, especially as they are consumed with a loud 'pop;' in course of the proceeding he incidentally remarked: 'Their galleys burn; why not their cities, too?'"

Mr. McKeon—From whom are those words quoted? [Laughter.]

Mr. Roosevelt—I really do not know, Sir.

DON PEDRO'S APPETITE.

"Don's appetite had been sharpened by open air and exercise, and he expatiated at length upon disappointed hopes of fried ham, broiled ham, ham omelets, ham plain and ham and eggs, and suggested many new and doubtless excellent dishes, of which ham was to be the principal part. His advice was valuable, but somewhat late." [The ham had been stolen.]

Mr. McKeon—Well, Sir, won't you read on the ninety-third page? We want to know how the Don amused himself and

WHAT HE EXPLORED.

Mr. Roosevelt, (reading)—

"While our guides were preparing supper, Don proceed to explore the neighborhood, and made his way to the wigwams, where he found more of the same family. Immediately on our appearance, the women, after peering furtively through the chinks, retired into obscurity, ignorant, probably, of our high delicacy toward the female sex; and in fact throughout, betrayed a disgusting want of confidence; the three favorite wives of the silly old patriarch, wives that we were told were both young and pretty, having fled into the bush before our canoe had touched land. During our entire stay we had nothing but dissolving views of female charms—loveliness that was not arrayed in crinoline—although Don devoted every spare moment to persistent visits."

This is not true; to my knowledge he never returned to the spot; we did not see a woman all the time we were there; our guide said the three wives of the chief ran away; it may be so; he also said they were pretty, which I doubt.

Mr. Roosevelt—In this way we went on, and I passed three weeks of unalloyed happiness.

Mr. McKeon—He had three weeks of unalloyed happiness did he—did he say that? A.—No, Sir; I said it, and it was not true either; I forgot the musquitoes and they certainly furnished considerable alloy. [Laughter.]

Mr. McKeon—Well, Sir, we will now return to the SUBJECT MATTER.

Q.—Did you visit Waverley again? A.—Yes, Sir.

Q.—Do you know when Peter was married?

A.—I don't know when he was married; I don't think I was there at the time; he didn't tell me that he was in Europe nor how long he stayed; he never talked to me about his Paris life; he spoke about his Egyptian life; of shooting crocodiles and snipes; didn't speak of women; I was in his room at Waverley; I was there two or three weeks ago last; I was there one day; I went to visit him not in relation to this suit; he and I went shooting and shot twenty quail; prior to 1860 I can't remember visits; was in the habit of gunning while Mrs. Strong and the children were there; I went up to see his pictures; I remember an old head, one of Cropsey's landscapes, and the Cenci; he is a great connoisseur; he was an art critic; I remember the cabinet and the dagger, and a foot, I think; a pretty little foot, not bigger than my hand; I visited them at Twenty-first-street; don't remember Mrs. Strong was there; did'nt dine there; we went shooting from there, I think; I visited them, I think, at Mr. Stevens'; I have, at all events, been there; I think they were both there; I have called there; I went to Islip in May, about the 20th; I fix it by sporting data; there was a run in of the fish; we were gone one day and caught eighty bluefish; I slept in the wing; Mrs. Strong's room was the back room; I don't know of any difficulty between them; he called her Mrs. Strong; I think he spoke to and of her as Mrs. Strong; the reason why my room was changed to the main building was that it was warmer there; we had breakfast before we went out, fished till five and then dined; treated Mrs. Strong as his wife, certainly; had no suspicions of her until I went there; never saw the confessions, but heard of them; at the time of the habeas corpus matter I heard of them; Mr. Peter told me nothing about them; I never saw them in his hand; I think he once said she had confessed; this was on the only occasion we spoke of it; he never intimated about it until the time of the habeas corpus; we were intimate; he referred to the matters in the papers, and then went on to tell about it; I don't remember what it was; he told me his wife had been guilty with his own brother; he didn't say at that time anything about Edward's examination; he did once refer to it; did not tell me it was at Baltimore, nor that he had examined Mrs. Bedell; he told me he had commenced proceedings for a divorce; he didn't tell me who were his counsel; he said negotiations had been made with old Mr. Stevens, and was willing to try and live with Mary and keep the thing quiet; Mr. Stevens was very grateful, and that there would be no difficulty about a divorce if he wanted one; didn't know that Mr. Noyes and Mr. Silliman were Mrs. Strong's counsel; didn't tell me Judge Hoffman was his counsel; he said he had negotiated with Mary; had offered her that a separation merely should be had, one child going with each; he was to support her, and they were to alternate the custody of the children; neither to say anything about the other, and that he must have the legal right to take the child; on the last point they split, Mr. Stevens insisting that she should control one of the children; she was to have a certain amount, I don't know what; he never showed me the correspondence between Judge Hoffman and Mr. Noyes.

Q.—Was anything said about his being asked to support her? A.—He didn't say so; I didn't know anything about the correspondence; I have drawn leases for him, but I don't remember any particular one.

Mr. McKeon then put in evidence several leases and papers, some of which Mr. Roosevelt identified.

Q.—Have you a man in your employ named Dailey? A.—Yes, he was there in 1863; also in 1862; I recollect seeing Mrs. Potter at the office; I think it was 1862; she has spoken to me; I think she did not when she first came; I was not present when she and Peter was together; Dailey was my clerk at No. 76 William-street; Mrs. Potter may have come in 1863, but I don't know; Mr. Dailey told me of her business; he is no connection of her's that I know of; he did her business for her; she had some trouble about some other woman I think; I think the woman was turned out, but I don't know; I presume Daily was paid for it, but I don't know.

Q.—Was it Mrs. Walsh? A.—I don't know who it was.

Q.—Was it Mrs. Kelly? A.—I wouldn't like to swear; I don't recollect.

Mr. Cram—The name was Purdy, and the counsel knows it.

To Mr. McKeon—I saw Mrs. Potter there six or seven times; Mr. Strong's office was up stairs; I don't think she went up; she talked with Mr. Dailey; I can't give the date nor the year; I think it was in 1862; I don't think I saw them in 1864; I generally am a great deal in my office, except the Summer months; Mrs. Potter did not ask for Mr. Strong; I never saw her pay any money.

Witness identified the handwriting of Mr. Bienville, a student in his office.

Q. Was he empowered to receipt for Mr. Strong? A.—No, but it was the habit of our office to take money for him, and of course receipt for it.

Q. What did you see against the door? A.—I think it was a washstand; a big one; Mr. Strong may have washed his hands there, but I can't swear to it; it was in Mr. Strong's room, whatever it was; I suppose that was in the front room; it was Mr. Strong's room; I remember going into the room and seeing the bed, and noticing something in the corner against the door; on the front the door opened on the hall; on the left was the bed; on the right of the door the window in front; don't know how many washstands there were in the room; Mr. Strong's room faced the road, I think; his room was at one end of the house; hers at the other; about 50 feet I should say; the house was 30 feet front, with a wing at the side; I slept in one room in the wing; there was a dark room there, with a quail in it; there were three servants—a waitress, the French governess, and the negro man; the waitress was not French; her name was Ellen, I think; I think Mrs. Strong's fronted on the road; I don't remember looking out of the window; Mrs. Strong invited me into the back room, while I always supposed hers was the back room; the house was about 80 feet from the road; I can give you my impression only; there was at the entrance stairs that went up; there was a door at the head opening into a large dining-room—well, I can't say; I know of no correspondence between Mr. Strong and Mrs. Potter.

Witness identified a note as in the handwriting of Mr. Peter Strong.

Mr. McKeon—I suppose there is no impropriety in letting the jury know that this letter is to the Mrs. Potter, the party charged with—

Mr. Cram—Hold on, I object to this; really, I don't know what right you have to—let me see it—you may read it.

Mr. McKeon then read the following

NOTE FROM MR. STRONG.

Mrs. Potter—Dear Madam: A five-dollar bill on the Bank of America, which I took this morning in payment for your rent, is pronounced a counterfeit at my bank, and a one-dollar Treasury note was also refused, because a portion of it was torn off.

I will bring them with me for you to exchange when I call on Friday or Saturday.

Yours very truly, P. R. STRONG.

No. 76 William-street, March 9, 1863.

Q.—Do you know how papers have been prepared for the newspapers? A.—I don't; I heard Mr. Strong's speech in court; he told me he was going to make a speech, but whether it was this or not I can't say; it was in the Court of Sessions; the charge was abortion; the speech was written out, complaining of delay, asking trial and all; I told him I thought it was very dangerous; I didn't tell him that he would have to say anything besides guilty or not guilty; I told him it was a dangerous thing to do—that the parties against him would pick out anything they could; he said they couldn't pick out anything against him; he made the speech because he wanted to be tried; the case had been delayed and he wanted to be tried; I fear we are talking about different speeches; he felt that it was a great outrage and a great injustice to him, that the trial was delayed and the case held over him; I saw a speech in the manuscript; I may have seen one in the newspapers; I think, Mr. McKeon, the speech he showed me wasn't more than two or three months ago; it covered five or six pages; he did not tell me he ever prepared any affidavits for publication; he said you were behaving very badly against him; that you were very active against him; he said also, that Mr. Geary was worse; that he went around in his social circle and bragged he would send him to the State Prison; he thought you would attempt to influence the District-Attorney, and that Mr. Stevens was on the other side of politics; he did not think of any improper influence; he thought you had influenced the District-Attorney improperly; that two or three efforts had been made to get the Grand Jury to indict him and failed; he said that one of the jury told him, Mr. Cooper or Mr. Hewitt, I think; it did not astonish me at all; I have been told myself by the Grand Jury; I know it is in violation of the law and their oath; he said he had been talking with Mr. Cooper; did not say what vote carried it; he said it had been refused twice, and then Mrs. Hecksher had been called down and she had sworn to something by which it was carried; he said something about false testimony being used; he did imply the charge that some influence had been used by the opposite counsel; he said he thought some influence had been used; he did not intimate that the District-Attorney held the Grand Jury in his hands.

HE COMPLAINED

that the Grand Jury had twice thrown out the bill, and then Mrs. Hecksher had turned the scale, and that you had said that you informed the Grand Jury that unless it was found that month the statute limitation would run; I did state I did not think any improper influence had been used; not less than sixteen are necessary to find a bill—twelve men have to assent to it.

To Mr. McKeon—I did see Mrs. Potter after these proceedings; it was certainly a year after that; I know nothing of Mrs. Adams' case; nor of Mrs. Potter's indictment for the murder; I don't know who gave bail for her nor how it was given; I know nothing of a deposit for bail, nor of an amount borrowed by Mr. Strong at that time; I never heard of it.

To Mr. Cram—When Mr. Strong complained of the way in which he was treated, he said Mr. Hall admitted the fact; that Mrs. Potter was to be indicted for murder, and let off if she would testify against Mr. Strong; my object in writing this book was to describe the Superior region; it was merely an indulgence in the realms of imagination, to the best of my ability; the three weeks of unalloyed happiness referred to myself; I had, however, forgotten the musquitoes.

Q.—What is Mr. Strong's moral character?

Counsel.—I object.

The Court—This is not a proper question. I exclude it.

Q.—What was his moral conduct and as to temperance?

The Court—I exclude it.

Witness identified an engraving of the Cenci; also a snuff-box with the picture on the cover.

To Mr. McKeon—The District-Attorney did not tell me he should use Mrs. Potter against Mr. Strong because he was worse than she; the reason given was connected with the question of influence; he didn't state what motive; he wanted to know what could be the motive; he didn't say he was indicted with Mrs. Potter for abortion on his wife; he said Clinton was Mrs. Potter's counsel; he said that Mr. Potter employed him; never saw Mr. Potter in my life; I know of no message, nor of money furnished for Mrs. Potter's counsel; don't know of Mrs. Strong's going to Mrs. Potter's in Sixth-avenue; he said she owed him a balance of rent; he told me you accused him of it, but that he did not; that's my recollection of it; he did reduce the rent of his tenants at one time, and her's among the rest; he had been up for the balance, and said he had not forgiven it; told me he had been to Waverley-place.

Mr. Cram—This is all your Honor, and with this rests our case.

Mr. Graham—We want to know whether the note from Mary was ever sent to Edward Strong.

Mr. Cram—Well, there is a proper way of ascertaining the fact; I don't propose to be catechised by the counsel, and I don't wish your Honor to aid in it.

Mr. McKeon—We don't believe it has been sent.

Mr. Gerry—Does your Honor propose to take a recess?

Judge Garvin—I had not intended to do so. Are you prepared to open now? The case is with the defendant. The jury are well wearied, I presume, and I certainly am, but if you are ready we will go on.

Mr. Graham—We don't wish to annoy the jury nor your Honor, and if your Honor is tired out it will be impossible for your mind to act with sufficient charity on the very important motion which Mr. Gerry is to make—a motion which is the result of the combined research, study and reflection of the counsel for the defence, and which it is our desire he shall make. There may not be any opening if your Honor views the motion as we do. We think the other side has no case.

Judge Garvin—I think then we would better adjourn until Monday morning.

Mr. McKeon—Before adjourning I wish to call your Honor's attention to the reports of some of the papers, which, without intention doubtless on the part of the reporters, are calculated to do injury to the defendant, and we would desire of your Honor to caution the reporters about publishing the whole of depositions offered here, when only portions of them are admitted as evidence. (The evident justice of this proposition was what induced the Times to decline, some days since, the proffered copy of Mrs. Bedell's deposition, and led it to reproduce the arguments pro and con on the subject of admission, and the printing only of the parts accepted by the court.)

Mr. Cram—I must say that so far as I am concerned, I have seen nothing in any of the reports which was unfair or unjust.

Mr. Graham—The counsel says he has seen nothing. Well, I have; and Mr. McKeon holds in hand an extract from a morning paper, which is so indecent in its attack that it makes me shudder to hear it read. We know all about these things, and we mean to show how much money has been paid by the other side for advertising in the neswpapers.

Mr. Cram—Now, that is a direct charge, and I meet it by saying again that we have had nothing to do with the reports made, and I reiterate that I have seen nothing emanating from the reporters that was not just and correct.

Judge Garvin—I am convinced by my intercourse with the reporters that they mean to be fair and candid in their reports, and so far as I have seen, they have reproduced these proceedings with accuracy and fidelity.

Upon investigation it was developed that the matter referred to was in no report at all, but was a simple reference in the editorial column to the impropriety of the fearful disclosures made during the progress of the case.

Friday, Dec. 1—P. M.

The Treasury Office in this city paid off $6,892,545 of the Legal Tender Notes of 1863, with the 2½ ₱ cent. half-yearly interest accumulated thereon since the June Coupon. The original issue of 1863 was $150,000,000, all of which, except about $20,000,000, had been received in payment of the different Loans made since that time. This remainder is now being paid off out of the cash balances in the Treasury at the close of November, and no more Legal Tender issue will be made in substitution of the Notes canceled.

The Treasury Office received $865,340 to-day for Gold Certificates, and $458,000 for Customs duties.

The Money Market is made easier to-day by the payments from the Treasury Office on the 5 ₱ cent. Legal Tender Notes, the proceeds of which go chiefly to the banks, savings institutions and insurance companies of the city. The 7-30 ₱ cents. and Gold-bearing stocks are in better request than yesterday, owing, in part, to the reinvestment of the 5 ₱ cents paid off. The large dealers in Governments were accommodated with Money at call at 6 ₱ cent. The other brokers are generally paying 7 ₱ cent., at which there is a good offering and a fair degree of employment from the Stock Exchange. The Railway and Miscellaneous Stock speculation is showing more animation, and the rise in prices since the early part of the week is quite general, though not very rapid.

A larger business than usual of late, was done in New-York Central at an improvement of 1@1¼ ₱ cent., and the dealings were also active in Erie, Reading and several of the Western Roads. On the Miscellaneous list, Mariposa Preferred and Common Shares, were upward, and there was an increased movement in the Ashburton Coal Shares.

At the Second Board, and also on Broad-street, the market was less firm than in the forenoon, and part of the advance on New-York Central, Fort Wayne, &c., was lost. The price of Gold, which was barely steady at 148 through the day, closed at 147⅞@⅞ ₱ cent. Bills on London left off rather tame at 109¼ ₱ cent. The following are the 4 o'clock quotations:

The movements in Tobacco, during the month of November, Messrs. M. Rader & Sons notice thus: "The month just past differed but little from the previous ones, as in the absence of any speculative demand, prices kept pretty well their even tenor. The demand was not quite so active, showing evident signs that orders in hand had been pretty well filled, and although the advices from abroad speak of better feeling for certain grades of Kentucky and Virginia Tobacco, prices ruling here leave but little inducement to purchase at this late period of the season. The sales of the month count up 5,000 hhds., about one-third of which low grades ranging from 4½c.@6½c. in gold; about one-third for government contracts, at 8c.@14c. gold, and the balance, Clarksville, at 10c. to 19c. gold. The reports as to the quality of the new crop in Kentucky continue favorable, and are fully indorsed by a few hhds. lately received from the Clarksville and Western districts, which were of fine length, texture and color, and were partly sold at 29c. currency to a shipper. As to the extent of the crop, we have heard of no estimates reaching over 65,000 hhds. Receipts at this port compared with last years: Receipts for November, 1865, 6,990 hhds.; total receipts to date, 83,035 hhds. Receipts for November, 1864, 4,019 hhds.; total to Nov. 30, 1864, 129,586 hhds. We change part of our quotations agreeably to sales effected during last month: Sound Lugs, 4½c.@7½c., gold; Common Leaf, 6½c.@11c.; Medium Leaf, 8c.@14c.; Good Leaf, 9½c.@16c.; Fine Leaf, 12c.@18c.; Selections, 15c.@20c. Among the receipts of last month were 441 hhds. Virginia Leaf, of which but a part had been offered on sale. About 350 hhds. of the various grades sold from 8c. currency up to 14c. gold. Maryland Leaf continues in fair supply, with stronger disposition on the part of factors to sell before the close of the year. The prevailing low prices of common and medium grades is beginning to attract the attention of speculators, though we have no large purchases to report the past week. Shippers are buying moderately to fill up the vessels now on the berth. Sales for the week amount to 300@400 hhds., comprising all grades within our range annexed. In Kentucky descriptions the sales have been confined to small lots for home consumption, prices nominally unchanged. For Ohio the market is quiet and holders firm. No large sales reported. Inspections this week: 729 hhds. Maryland, 21 Ohio and 94 Kentucky—total, 844 hhds. Cleared same time: 575 hhds. to Bremen, 897 hhds., 20 do. stems, 30 cases and 2,146 lbs. manufactured to Rotterdam; 10 hhds. leaf to West Indies. The demand for Havana Tobacco has been only moderate, sales amounting to 600 bales for home use, at 70c.@90c. ₱ lb., duty paid, and 500 bales for export, at 10c.@13c. ₱ lb., gold; 1,500 bales were shipped for owners' account. Of Yara Tobacco, 25 bales II cuts were sold at $1 02, duty paid. This article has been somewhat neglected of late, in the absence of desirable qualities. 100 bales of Sagua, of good quality, brought 85c. ₱ lb., duty paid. Seedleaf Tobacco has continued quite dull, especially for home trade; the few sales made were of Connecticut, prices of which are nominally the same as quoted previously. For export, some 2,000 cases, principally Ohio Seed, of low and medium grades, were sold for Germany, at 7½c.@13c. ₱ lb. Manufactured Tobacco continues quiet, the demand being only for goods in sound order, of which but little is offering, whilst the late receipts from Virginia are not very desirable in grade and condition. A government sale of 1,947 packages Virginia drew considerable buyers, but the bulk of the lot being black work, it did not cause much competition. Prices ranged in gold from 12½c.@20½c. for black lbs. and tens, and 19c.@38c. for common and medium bright lbs. In bonded goods, the market remains dull, a few sales made only at a concession from former rates.

FREIGHTS—For Liverpool, the engagements included 1,400 bales Cotton, at 9-32d.@5-16d. by sailing vessel, and ½d. by steamer, ℔ lb.; 500 bbls. Flour, at 1s. 9d. ℔ bbl.; also, by steamer, 14,000 bushels Wheat, at 7d. ℔ bushel. For London, 21,000 bushels Corn, at 7½d. ℔ bushel; 1,700 pkgs. Oil Cake, at 17s. 6d.@20s. ℔ ton.

NEWS OF THE DAY.

GENERAL NEWS.

President Johnson has sent a telegraphic message to Gov. Holden, of North Carolina, under date of Nov. 27, expressive of his great disappointment in the result of the late elections in that State, as tending seriously to retard the work of reconstruction. He indulges the hope that the Legislature will take such action as will lessen in some measure the difficulties already threatened and created.

Interesting letters have been received from Professor Agassiz, giving an account of the astonishing scientific discoveries he has made in the river Amazon. Under date of Sept. 8, he writes that he had then obtained more than three hundred species of fish, although he had, to that time, only examined one-third of the Amazon without trenching on its affluents. He had only counted on, at most, two hundred and fifty or three hundred species, and he says that not a third of those he collected belong to known ones. The latest report is that Agassiz was to leave Manaos, in Amazonas, on the 10th of September for Tabatinga, in Peru.

We have letters from Rio Janeiro to the 4th ult., but no very important news. The war with Paraguay was progressing slowly, no great event having occured since the surrender of Uraguayana. Great preparations were being made for the reception of the Emperor and his son-and-law, who were expected to reach Rio in about a week. The new steamship company, connecting with the United States, was joyously hailed. There was some excitement and much hope of benefit concerning the anticipated immigration from our Southern States.

A second part of Capt. Hall's report on his search for fuller information about Sir John Franklin's Arctic expedition has been received. The wrecked ships of Franklin appear to have been visited, the remains of a large number of their crews seen, frozen and mutilated, and the valuables left in the ships appropriated by the Esquimaux. They encourage Capt. Hall to believe that some of the men may still be living.

The steamer Catharine Whiting, on her way from this city to Galveston, was entirely disabled by the late storm along the coast. She was picked up on the 16th by the government steamer, the South Carolina, and towed to the mouth of the Mississippi, the lady passengers being first taken into Pensacola. This vessel had on board Nixon's Circus Troupe, of which the horses and most of the tent equipage were lost overboard.

The Alabama Legislature has counted the official vote for Governor at the late election, and announced it as follows:

Robert M. Patton	21,422
M. R. Bulger	15,234
William R. Smith	8,194
Patton's majority over Bulger	6,188

A collision occurred yesterday morning near Whitehouse, N. J., on the New-Jersey Central road, killing several persons and severely wounding many others. It is said to have been caused by an accidental dividing of a heavy coal train on an up grade, the detached portion running back at a rapid rate and meeting the express at full speed.

The Bloomingdale Catholic Association held the second anniversary reception last eveing, in their hall in Eighth-avenue, where the members and a large number of guests passed several hours most pleasantly. Archbishop McCloskey and a number of prominent Catholic clergy and laymen were present.

Near Bloomfield, N. J., the remains of a man named John H. High have been found, who had evidently been strangled to death. No clue to the murderers had at last accounts been discovered.

Gen. Grant has approved the selection of Point Lookout as a site for the temporary home for disabled soldiers.

A large immigration to Brazil from this country was expected.

LOCAL NEWS.

At a meeting of the Board of Metropolitan Fire Commissioners, yesterday afternoon, the annual report of Chief-Engineer John Cunningham, of the Fire Department in the Western District of Brooklyn, was received and ordered to be incorporated with the Commissioners' annual report to Gov. Fenton. The report shows that there are fourteen hundred and seventy-three members of the Williamsburgh Fire Department, and that the expenses of the organization, the past year, have been only $26,774 86. The losses by fire during the year, amounted to $203,747; during the year 1864, $634,248. The Commissioners made several appointments and received several resignations, after which they adjourned to Wednesday afternoon next.

In the case of the United States against William Chase Barney, Reignald Chauncey and Bentham Fabian, accused of an attempt to defraud the General Government, counsel appeared before Justice Dowling, yesterday morning, and in the unavoidable absence of Mr. Edwin James, the further hearing—Assistant District-Attorney John Sedgwick consenting—was postponed to Wednesday afternoon next, at 2 o'clock. The case is already before the United States Courts. Two of the accused are in prison, and the third—Barney—is under $15,000 bail.

Three suicides occurred in this city yesterday, and on Thursday. The first was Milo Harris, a native of Connecticut, who shot himself because he had been robbed of $800....Gertle Redlinger blew out his brains under bridge No. 16, in the Central Park, near the Seventh-avenue entrance, on Thursday evening, killing himself instantly....Lewis Schwenger, who cut his throat in Houston-street, on the 12th ult., died yesterday at the New-York Hospital, from the effects of the wounds.

The two hundred and fifty Boards of Registry in the city sat again yesterday, from 8 o'clock in the morning until 9 last night, and will resume their sessions this morning, and finally close their lists at 9 o'clock this evening. Very few new names were added to the lists yesterday.

Yesterday, $865,000 in coin were deposited in the United States Sub-Treasury in this city, making a total deposit of $10,558,700 since the first coin deposit under the new arrangement on Wednesday, Nov. 15.

The customs revenue of the government, through this port, this week, has averaged $282,196 a day.

The arrivals of immigrants at this port during the week ending last evening numbered 4,905.

Gold was weaker yesterday than on Thursday, closing at 147⅜@147½. Exchange on London 109½. Government Stocks firmer; the Railway speculation active and upward in the forenoon, but less firm at the close of the day.

A less active business was reported yesterday in Produce and Merchandise at irregular prices. Freights were quiet.

The Unsatisfactory Character of the Southern Elections.

President Johnson's dispatch to Gov. Holden, declaring that the results of the recent elections in North Carolina will seriously hinder the restoration of that State to its governmental relations, is deeply significant. Hitherto the Southern people seem to have assumed that, to get back to their old position, it was enough for their delegates, in convention assembled, to comply with what they were pleased to consider the requirements of the President—to wit: A prohibition of Slavery by constitutional law; an abrogation of the secession ordinances, and a repudiation of all State debts contracted to maintain the war against the government. These points were urged by the President upon the various conventions, not as demands, but as friendly counsels. After a good deal of urging, they have been generally complied with, though not always in the most acceptable way. Several of the conventions—those of South Carolina, Georgia and Florida—contented themselves with merely repealing or abrogating their secession ordinances, instead of pronouncing them, as they should have done, absolutely null and void ab initio. Yet so long as secession was repudiated as a fact, there was no disposition on the part of the President to make difficulty about the particular form in which it was done. The action of all the conventions on the whole was tolerably satisfactory. The few Legislatures which have since met have not answered expectations. But one of them, that of South Carolina, has yet ratified the amendment of the National Constitution forever interdicting slavery. There seems to be a general reluctance on this point which indicates a lurking hope that the time may come when slavery can be reëstablished, and an unwillingness to bar out the possibility of it. Yet it may be that the other Legislatures now in session may imitate the example of South Carolina after a little urging from Washington.

Urging—"aye there's the rub." It is a rather a poor quality of loyalty that requires this constant stimulation. We long since tried to impress upon the Southern people that the spirit which they should display would be of more account in effecting their restoration than any formal acts they might adopt. Their great necessity has been to satisfy the government and the loyal people of the land that they have become thoroughly loyal at heart and radically converted from that hostile feeling which impelled the rebellion. The sine qua non to a restoration to constitutional privileges is a thoroughly loyal disposition. Without that, all present acts of conventions or of Legislatures are of little avail; for they would be liable to be annulled or fatally changed at any future time. Give South Carolina and Georgia to-day the genuine devotion to the government cherished by New-York and Ohio, and the government would not waste another thought upon the doings of their conventions or Legislatures. It is this genuine devotion, self-inspired and self-directing, which has been grievously wanting in about all of the Southern States from the beginning of the work of "reconstruction." All that has been gained has had too much the appearance of having been given under duress. The action of the conventions and Legislatures, instead of being prompt, cheerful and spontaneous as it should have been, has been too often reluctant and perfunctory. All this has exercised the patience of the President. He has endeavored to make the best of it, trusting that, in due time, would come a better appreciation of true self-interest and a reascendency of all the better sentiments. But these popular elections have disappointed him. They show unmistakably that the magnanimity of the government has not been reciprocated with any real warmth of regard.

Worth, who has been elected Governor of North Carolina by a majority of nearly ten thousand, was notoriously the favorite of the original Secessionists, and of those who still are most discontented with the triumph of the government. He is said never to have been a positive disunionist; but the misfortune of his election lies in the fact that, whatever his personal sentiments, he was the candidate of the more disaffected portion of the people against Provisional Governor Holden, who had the full confidence and all the moral support of the government. His success can be taken as nothing else than a proof that the majority of the people of the State are not, and do not at present care to be, in loyal accord with the government. This is confirmed by the fact that most of the Representatives they have elected to Congress are men whose chief recommendation consisted in fighting the government under the Confederate flag. The same disposition to bestow special honor and reward upon those who particularly identified themselves with the rebellion by military service, has shown itself in most of the Southern States. Nine-tenths of the members of Congress which the Southern people have elected are unpardoned rebels, and men who cannot take the test oath prescribed by law. This disinclination of the people to vote for men who always kept their loyalty, is a very sure token that the prevailing sentiment of the popular heart is not genuine loyalty. If there were a real alienation from the rebellion, most certainly there would be avoidance of the men most associated with the rebellion. This exhibition of popular feeling must go far to undo all that has been accomplished by the conventions in favor of reconstruction, and is to be deeply regretted.

Its efforts are already seen in the action of the government. The Provisional Governors in several instances have been notified to retain their trusts, and not yield them to the Governors elected by the people. Pardons are much more unfrequently granted. The Southern States are specially excepted in the proclamation restoring the writ of habeas corpus. It is manifestly the settled purpose of the President to keep the South under military control until better evidence is given that it can be safely trusted with its own self-direction. We have no doubt that the great majority of the loyal people of the land will cordially sustain him in this policy. The Southern people cannot too well understand that a loyal heart is the one thing needful to their repossession of the blessings of the Union. They will be judged not by what they do under constraint, but by what their own free spirit prompts for good or for evil.

A Looking-Glass for Mr. Greeley!—John Hecker Recognizes Slavery a "Divine Institution."

The Churchman was Mr. John Hecker's organ, established and supported with his money, and uttering his sentiments. We now extract from editorial in the Churchman of July 19, 1860, at the moment that slavery had struck at the government and the Union. The article we quote from is headed the "Slavery Problem," and speaking of the Tribune as "clownish" and "shameless," goes to the root of the matter:

> "All history and all experience prove that labor is a necessary means to civilization. Revealed religion teaches us that in the sweat of his face man shall eat bread. No object, worthy of attainment, can be accomplished, either in our natural or spiritual life, without constant labor; and no man or race of men can advance either socially, morally or religiously, without constant, well-directed exertion—in other words, without work.
> Granting, then, the absolute necessity for labor, taking in conjunction with this the clear proof, which we are prepared to advance, of the constitutional distaste for labor inherent in the negro—constitutional laziness for which he is no more accountable than for the color of his skin—and it follows that, if he is to be raised, it must be by some power external to himself; that, in short, he must be reduced to a condition of slavery, in some form or other, however much it may be modified by circumstances.
> This point then being settled, it next arises for consideration: Is it justifiable in the white race so far to act in contrariety to abstract notions of justice, so far to set aside what are generally known as the 'natural rights' of the negro race, as to bring that race into subjection? In other words: Is it not desirable that large bodies of our fellow-creatures, even at the sacrifice of what might sentimentally be considered their 'natural rights,' should be raised from that state of barbarism, and degradation, and wretchedness, in which the negroes of Africa are now sunk, and placed in a state of society where their natural rights, that is, the rights of man in a savage state, would be changed into adventitious rights—those only rational rights, after all, as belonging to a state of society which possesses the power to make laws and regulations for its own maintenance, for its own welfare, and for the happiness of all concerned? We have used the word sentimentally; and we have done so not without thought. That sort of freedom which some people prate about as the natural right of the negro, does not deserve to be regarded as anything better than mere sentimentalism, when we come to apply it to any practical means that may be made available for raising him out of savage life. It is all very fine to talk of such liberty—to talk of God having made every man free. The lines of the poet are doubtless very affecting to sentimental minds, when he tells us that we should all be
> 'Free as nature first made man,
> When wild in woods the noble savage ran.'
> But who that has tasted the happiness of civilized and social life, would wish to be a 'noble savage,' and run wild in the woods, even for the sake of enjoying such freedom as his natural right?
> The question answers itself. It is doubtless our duty, as a Christian people, to bring this degraded and brutalized race under the influence of Christianity and within the pale of the Church, even in spite of themselves. The theory of abstract right to liberty is at once proved false by the facts which can be brought to bear upon it. It is altogether useless to say that the negro has a right to liberty, when it can be conclusively demonstrated that he is physically unadapted for it. God has given no rights to man that he has not adapted man for exercising, and the fact of the negro being, as a consequence of his fallen and miserable condition, thus unadapted, proves that he is incapable of enjoying liberty.
> Without taking an extreme theory and afterward paring down facts to fit, according to modern usage, we begin by saying that, from the inherent characteristics of the negro race, we deduce the fact that the black man is intended by God to be the servant of the white man, as much as children are intended by nature to be subject to and dependent on their natural guardians; that the natives of Africa are no more able by a spontaneous effort to raise themselves from their debased social, moral and religious condition, than a newly-born infant is capable of supplying itself with food and raiment without the care of its parents; that every Christian man must recognize the responsibility which God's Providence has laid upon the superior race to provide for the wants, both temporal and eternal, of the inferior one; that, to accomplish this end, the white race must exercise a certain amount of control and authority over the black; AND THAT, AS A NATURAL SEQUENCE, NEGRO SLAVERY, IN SOME FORM OR OTHER, IS PART OF THE HARMONIOUS SYSTEM, ESTABLISHED BY GOD, IN HIS GOOD PLEASURE, FOR MAN'S GOVERNANCE."

Such are evidences of the "Old Free Soil" sentiments attributed to Mr. Hecker by the Tribune.

MUSICAL.

Academy of Music—Production of Meyerbeer's Opera of the "African."—Although it is not our privilege, if we may believe a chagrined but facetious contemporary, to live in an operatic centre, such, for instance, as Kalamazoo or Peoria, and are in consequence deprived of the ineffable splendor of Mr. Grau's appearance, and the amazing voices of his newly imported artists, to whom, by the way, the natives of the "centres" aforesaid do not appear to take with that entire abandon which is acceptable to the gay impresario, we have yet, thanks to Mr. Maretzek, enjoyed the comparative satisfaction—shall we say, triumph?—of hearing Meyerbeer's "African" in anticipation of those superior capitals. The work, of all others the most important, was produced last evening at the Academy of Music, before an audience of overwhelming proportions, which manifested its pleasure by frequent bursts of applause, and during the entr'acts expressed its appreciation in unmistakeable terms. The first nights of Meyerbeer's operas have rarely been demonstrative. The music has never been of the sort that could be swallowed at a gulp. It requires many auditions before its beauties are perceived or become impressed on the memory. Most of our readers will recall the placid composure with which "Robert le Diable" and "Les Huguenots" were received when first brought out here. It was only after frequent performances that these grand works became popular. The "African" has fallen on better times. Its acceptance was immediate and positive. But for the speedy termination of Mr. Maretzek's season, it would undoubtedly enjoy a long and profitable run. As it is, we must be content with it to-night, and three times next week only.

Few works have been more talked about than this. There is probably no reader of current literature who has not during the past dozen years seen innumerable references to it as a forthcoming novelty. Commenced or contemplated before the "Huguenots" had well begun its triumphant career, it reaches us now the last of the works that Meyerbeer was permitted, in a long life and with rare deliberation, to give to the world. It was often laid aside, but always cheerfully resumed. The result was an enormous mass of manuscript, the natural consequence of a desultory mode of composition. After the composer's death, "L'Africaine" was lopped and topped for the French stage by M. Fetis, shedding about a third of its superfluous growth. A few twigs and branches have since been taken from it by other and less scrupulous hands. Notwithstanding all this musical gardening, it still requires four good hours to get through it. And if five were needed, we should not be the first to grumble. It will we fear be many a long day ere we are again called upon to spend the like amount of time at once so profitably and agreeably. Without pretending in any way to determine the rank of the "African," but agreeing in the general verdict that its status is somewhere between the "Huguenots" and the "Prophete,"—we have no hesitation in declaring it to be one of the most agreeable operas ever put upon the stage. The drama itself is stupid enough. It is the story of a young Portuguese naval officer, who desires to seek a new world—which we subsequently learn is Hindostan—and is rebuffed, as Columbus was rebuffed before him, but, nevertheless, finally succeeds. This hero—Vasco di Gama by name—possesses a happy faculty of making love. He is attached to Ines, the wife of a Don Pedro, who is anything but a friend to him, and beloved by Selika, a female slave whom he has brought to Portugal from a previous voyage to the Indies. The dramatis personæ, after the famous ship scene of the third act, find themselves in toe longed-for oriental land, of which it seems Selika is the Queen. Ines is there as a captive and matrimonially free, her husband having suffered death at the hands of the natives. Between these ladies Vasco has rather an embarrassing time of it, especially as he is compelled, by prudential motives, to marry the former. In the end, however, he effects his escape with Ines. Poor Selika finds oblivion and death beneath the heavy shadow of the upas tree. The most that can be said of this delectable nonsense, is that it supplies a series of interesting situations which Meyerbeer has seized with remarkable success. It affords also a good opportunity for the stage-carpenter, scene-painter and costumer; and an opening for an extra band on the stage.

There is a so-called overture, but it is of slight proportions. A phrase which is repeated constantly through the opera to indicate Ines is here heard for the first time, and speedily leads to the melody which forms the finale to the second act. These motivi are played in several keys and on several instruments, according to the composers' custom. The first act opens with a scena and romanza for Ines—very chaste and pretty. All the music allotted to this character is exquisitely wrought, but it sometimes lacks inspiration. A vigorous ritornelle leads to the Council scene, and is followed by a chorus in unison, which in power, fluency and melodiousness has seldom, if ever, been surpassed. It will bear comparison with nothing save the Benediction chorus of the "Huguenots," and even then will not suffer by the juxtaposition. The entry of Vasco to urge his scheme before the council is followed by some of the best dramatic music ever written. His statements are large, eloquent and manly. The superb declamatory style of Signor Mazzoleni—we need scarcely add—contributed materially to their effect. Selika and Nelusko, her companion and compatriot, here come upon the scene, and give rise to many fine phrases. A little duet, where Vasco implores Selika to speak, is beautiful and provokingly short. The navigator's appeal to the council being in vain, he relieves his mind by abusing that dull and pompous body in a square and popular melody which forms the finale to the act. For this luxury of vexation he is thrown in prison, where we find him in the next act. He is sleeping, and the faithful Selika watches over him. Under such circumstances it is natural that she should sing a slumber song, and equally natural that it should be somewhat commonplace. Nelusko (baritone) has a fine aria; the quick movement being remarkably original and vigorous. Signor Bellini sang this and the other music of his rôle with rare fire. The map business, where Selika points out the way round the cape, is heavy; relieved, however, by beautiful passages such as the duo—a very melodious and tender piece. The finale returns to the ornate but familiar theme already heard in the overture.

In the third act we have the scene-painter's pièce de resistance—the great ship, with its cabins, flush deck, mast, sails, rigging, &c. The effect of the "set" is extremely good, and repays the inevitable delay caused by it. One is surprised, however, to notice that in those early days the wheel was used for steering purposes, and that telescopes were quite common. History does not record that either of these articles were invented in the time of Vasco di Gama, but it is obvious they ought to have been. A very singular and striking mariner's chorus opens the act. One of its peculiarities is a total absence of form, and another is the appalling fact that the tenors have to sing up to C in alt. The effect is extremely good, but not in the slightest degree nautical. A prayer for all the voices, richly harmonized and boldly massed, follows. In this act Nelusko gives his wild and extraordinary direction for the helmsman to steer for the north—a few bars of unaccompanied declamation that possess a singular potency. The great sensation effect of the scene is achieved when the vessel turns slowly to her helm. Only instead of veering to the north, she comfortably settles down into a southwesterly course, to accomodate the Academy of Music. Nelusko sings a Storm King ballata with gusto—a piece of no particular merit. The storm comes in due course, and subsequently a horde of wild Indians, who massacre the crew, and take possession of the dismasted vessel. The curtain descends amid a tumult of unusual virulence, and decidedly more noisy than anything else.

The fourth act opens with the celebrated Indian march; a lengthy composition, serving as an introduction to the various masses of the procession, and as ballet music for the Bayaderes and Amazons. We all know how Meyerbeer excelled in this species of composition. The present march is full of rhythmetic character and charming effects of instrumentation. If it does not rank with the coronation march of the "Prophète" it is surely not far behind that famous morceau. The tenor aria, O Paradiso, is exquisitely chaste and dreamy. Indeed, the music of this act is so superlatively excellent, that it is useless to speak of it except in general terms of praise. The duet for tenor and soprano has never been surpassed; notwithstanding the comparative weakness of the succeeding allegro. A pretty female chorus (with Glockenspiel accompaniment) and dance bring the act to a close.

In the fifth act there is a marvelous duet between the two sopranos, in which all the inventive skill of the composer seems to have been poured out. The second motivo is refreshingly Italian in character. We are hurried now to the upas tee—a botanical production which is ushered in by an instrumental passage of great power. Selika's closing scene is exceedingly tender, and the whole act is thoroughly poetical. To return to the instrumental passage just referred to. It consists of an andante cantabile of sixteen bars. To the eye, there is barely the indication of a melody, and assuredly no promise of the stupendous effect which in reality is produced. The passage is strictly in unison—that is to say, no octaves are employed, and embraces a succession of eleven notes only. These are bestowed equally among the violoncellos, the violas, the violins, the bassoons and the clarionets. An earnestness and intensity of sound is in this way obtained which is without a parallel in music. The effect is perfectly thrilling.

The "African" has been placed on the stage in a splendid manner, and is cast to the full strength of Mr. Maretzek's company. The music suits the artists, who last night were all in excellent voice. Of their efforts and Mr. Bergman's we shall speak on another occasion. For the moment, it must suffice that the opera was a complete success, and that Mr. Maretzek's liberality and industry have contributed in a large degree to insure that result.

THE TRIBUTE BOOK.

A Letter From John Bright, M. P.

Messrs. Derby & Miller, agents for the Tribute Book, have received the following letter:

Rochdale, 15th November, 1865.

Dear Sirs: Mr. Clayhorn has brought me the copy of your handsome work, the Tribute Book.

I write to thank you for remembering me, and for sending me the great record of the wonderful doings of your people during your great struggle. I think no other nation can produce such a record of patriotic efforts and sacrifices in any cause, and it will remain forever a matter of pride for your children to future times.

I thank you most heartily for your kindness.

JOHN BRIGHT.

Derby & Miller, No. 5 Spruce-street, New-York.

Mr. Treadwell and Mr. Hecker.

New-York, Friday, Dec. 1, 1865.

To the Editor of the New-York Times:

In the Times of this morning, you make an extract, not from my communication, but from that of Mr. Schultz. That gentleman is abundantly able to take care of his own offspring. On the principle of justice as laid down by good old Ezekiel, that "the righteousness of the righteous shall be upon him." I think you should make the correction.

With regard to your remark that "Mr. Treadwell, perhaps, does not know that he is used now as an electioneering instrument," I answer, that I am not now, and never was, by any man, or body of men, used as an electioneering instrument.

I have not been prompted by any person, nor solicited in any way to defend Mr. John Hecker. It was my own voluntary act in the premises.

FRANCIS C. TREADWELL, Sen.

FROM WASHINGTON.

Special Dispatches to the New-York Times.

Washington, Friday, Dec. 1.

THE PUBLICATION OF THE MESSAGE AND THE REPORTS.

The President will decide to-morrow as to the mode of sending his message to the leading newspapers for publication on the day of the reading in Congress. The time being already too short to admit of transmission of the document by mail so as to reach any of the Western cities when the message is read, it will undoubtedly be sent by telegraph. The report of the Secretary of the Treasury will probably be sent to the Assistant Treasurer at New-York for distribution at the proper time.

The public printer is hurrying up the reports with all possible speed, but owing to the fact that they were nearly all on his hands at once, the facilities of the office are over-taxed with the work. They will all be in type by Monday, however.

The Postmaster-General to-day mailed copies of his report to the journals of the large cities of the country, in order that the document may be put in type for publication on the day of its delivery to Congress. The report occupies but thirteen pages, pamphlet size, and is not so lengthy as the last year's report by about one-third.

THE ORGANIZATION OF THE HOUSE.

There are now, probably, one hundred members of the House of Representatives in Washington, with several only from the late insurrectionary States. Excepting the credentials of members elect from Tennessee and Virginia, none have been received from the South. It is not probable that others will reach here from the late insurrectionary States before Monday, owing, among other causes, to the deranged condition of the mails, and the consequent delay in gathering the official returns of the elections, and the time required to send the credentials to Washington.

So it does not now appear that, on the meeting of the House on Monday, any difficulty can occur in the admission of members from the Southern States; and this is the general opinion of members now in Washington.

CAUCUS OF OHIO MEMBERS.

The members from Ohio hold a private meeting to-night, to agree as to what candidates they will support for officers of the House, so as to act understandingly among themselves at the general caucus to be held to-morrow night.

REORGANIZING THE DEPARTMENTS.

Senator Sherman will introduce a bill at an early day in the coming session of Congress, providing for the reorganization of the civil departments of the government. The special object of this bill will be to reduce the clerical force numerically, and increase the salaries of the remaining clerks.

HOTELS FILLING UP.

The crowds at the hotels have received large accessions to-day, a large number of Congressmen having arrived. Among the arrivals since yesterday are Senators Morgan, of New-York, and Wilson, of Massachusetts. Senator Sumner and Gen. Banks will be here to-morrow. Among the arrivals of members are Roscoe Conklin, R. B. Hale, J. W. Chanler, Thos. T. Davis, S. T. Holmes, Calvin T. Halburd and Gen. Ketchum, of New-York, S. J. Randall, Chas. O'Neill, S. E. Ancona, I. K. Morehead, and W. Russell Thayer, of Pennsylvania; John Hogan and W. McClurg, of Missouri; K. V. Whaley, of West Virginia; Justin S. Morrill, of Vermont; Michael G. Kerr and Col. H. D. Washburne, who contests Voorhees' seat, from Indiana; William Windom, from Minnesota; Gen. R. B. Hayes and W. E. Finck, of Ohio; Geo. S. Shanklin, of Kentucky; W. B. Campbell and W. B. Stokes, of Tennessee; W. T. Willey, Senator from West Virginia; James F. Wilson, of Iowa; J. W. Patterson, of New-Hampshire; John Lynch, of Maine.

ARRIVALS FROM THE SOUTH.

Among the arrivals from the South is Judge Warmouth, who appears as delegate from the Territory of Louisiana. He was elected by a constituency of over nineteen thousand voters most of whom were black. He stands an equal chance with other Southern members of being admitted to a seat, and has a much larger constituency at his back.

TREASURY MATTERS.

It is stated that the Treasury has now on hand in coin $41,718,000, and in currency $30,162,000. There is at present outstanding $5,545,000 of old certificates, $50,316,000 of new certificates and $51,000,000 of coin certificates. In the War and Navy Departments there is a reduction in the expenditures of over $11,000,000 in November, as compared with those of November, 1864.

THE RUSSIAN-AMERICAN TELEGRAPH.

Everything in the Most Promising Condition—The Work of the Season Highly Satisfactory.

San Francisco, Thursday, Nov. 30.

The Western Union Telegraph Company's bark Golden Gate, Capt. C. M. Scammon, U. R. M., arrived this evening from Petropaulooski in twenty-seven days, after a stormy and severe passage.

Everything in relation to the overland Russian Telegraph is in most satisfactory and promising condition. The inhabitants and government officials rendered every service in their power to promote the enterprise, and fully appreciate its importance. The four exploring parties, landed during the progress of the expedition, were in the field and actively pushing their work.

The Golden Gate, which is the last of the company's fleet that has arrived, brings up the report of the season's work, which is highly satisfactory and gives great promise of the successful construction of the great link of telegraph line joining the continents, and bringing the United States in telegraphic communication with Europe by overland route.

Should the action and the spirit of the Legislature be in the same direction, it will greatly increase the mischief already done, and might be fatal.

It is hoped the action and spirit manifested by the Legislature will be so directed as rather to repair than increase the difficulties under which the State has already placed itself.

Letter from Major Varnum to the Editor of the Philadelphia Bulletin.

DEAR SIR: Having noticed for some time past accounts of Dr. COLTON'S success in extracting teeth in this city and in New-York, at Cooper Institute, and knowing the perfect harmlessness of nitrous oxide, I resolved to dispose of several troublesome teeth. The only question with me was whether it could be done without pain, but this I should have to endure anyway, unless I submitted to ether or chloroform, which I was unwilling to do.

I accordingly visited Dr. COLTON at his office, No. 737 Walnut-street, and can now testify to the truthfulness of what he professes to do, viz.: "to extract teeth without pain."

The advantage of laughing gas over any other anæsthetic is it leaves no injurious effects upon the system. Persons of nervous temperament and feeble health can take it with perfect safety. The doctor has never had an accident with the gas.

The discovery is of such immense importance, I feel that the public should know it. Dr. COLTON employs one of the best operators in the country, Dr. WARD, of Massachusetts, who exercises the most wonderful patience and kindness with all who desire the benefit of his professional skill.—Advertisement.

EXERCISE.—The ancient Grecians were noted for their agility, strength and great powers of endurance. The English women of the present time are celebrated for their robust and healthy appearance, the result, in both instances, of vigorous and healthy exercise. The Americans, unfortunately, have but little taste for this method of retaining their health, or building up a broken constitution; hence the great prevalence of weak, sickly and delicate men and women. Hoofland's German Bitters will in a great measure palliate this want of exercise, by giving great strength to the digestive organs, hence producing a good appetite and a vigorous feeling of body. A moderate degree of exercise, however, used in connection with the Bitters, is much better, the most desperate case of dyspepsia, liver complaint, nervous debility, yielding quickly to their beneficial influence. All druggists have these Bitters for sale. They contain no alcohol.—Philadelphia Bulletin.

IMPORTANT TO THE PUBLIC!
DR. VON EISENBERG'S
ÆSTHETICO-NEURALGICON,
THE CELEBRATED APPARATUS.

From the New-York Express.

So many able and earnest men are devoting themselves to medical investigation, that it would be strange if new discoveries were not made. Among the most brilliant of these—we may indeed say the most brilliant of all—is that of Dr. VON EISENBERG, in regard to the Etherealization of Medicines; we may properly call it the "Spiritualization," since the Latin Spiritus, whence comes our word "Spiritual," signifies primarily, simply 'the air."

Many of the most important and vital organs of the human frame cannot be reached by medicines in a solid or even in a liquid form. Thus the lungs are shut up in a bony chest to which access can be had only through the wind-pipe, the opening of which is closed by a valve, called the "epiglottis," so sensitive and so delicately constructed, that it will not allow the passage, except by main force, of the most minute crumb, or the smallest drop of liquid. Every person who has "swallowed the wrong way" the smallest substance, whether of liquid or solid, knows the feeling of strangulation thereby occasioned. A man cannot, if he would, voluntarily swallow any liquid or solid into the lungs, or the passage leading to them. Herein lies the true reason why Consumption has been so incurable.

As to the entire apparatus, we have no hesitation in saying that we regard it as a wonderful invention—one that, were it not so costly, we have little doubt would be adopted by every hospital and medical college in the country. We are satisfied it would well repay, even if he had to journey all the way from Europe, the scientific man to see and examine it. It is a marvel of mechanical complexity, and yet, when its multiform uses are considered, of extreme simplicity and great beauty. That it will in every respect fulfill the expectations of the inventor, we have every reason to believe. It has been constructed with an accurate knowledge of its ultimate uses. One so experienced in the specialities for which it is particularly intended as is Dr. Von Eisenberg, and for which he has long felt the necessity in his practice, could make no failure. With it he is enabled to surmount obstacles that were hitherto deemed all but impossible to control. He can now approach with certainty and diagnose thoroughly every disease that, in the course of his extended practice, he aims to master. To those, therefore, who are in any way afflicted with loss of sight or hearing, with catarrh, bronchitis, chest or lung diseases, we earnestly suggest a visit to the consulting apartments of Dr. VON EISENBERG. There he will be speedily made to know the possibility of a cure in even complicated cases. We hereto observe that the apparatus is intended also to bring the etherealized medicines into direct action upon the nerves. The nervous system is the source of many diseases. All physicians admit this, and all profess at least to be able to apply a remedy. The Allopathic, Homeopathic and Hydropathic, by prescribing opiates, anodynes, &c., may, and do, alleviate the pain arising from impaired or diseased nerves; but this does not restore the nerve, it is only temporary relief—a relief, too, to some one nerve at the expense of the entire system. The Æsthetico-Neuralgicon of Dr. Von Eisenberg not merely allays the irritation, but restores the nerve to its normal condition. The Doctor's theory is, that each nerve has a specific office, and has its own peculiar susceptibility. Thus, for example, the nerve of vision is insensible to touch; and, on the other hand, the nerve of touch is insensible to light, and so on through the whole system.

From the Journal of Commerce.

We think it is but just to Dr. Von Eisenberg to call public attention to him. There are hundreds in the community suffering from catarrh, if not actually praying for death, who are ready to accept of anything that promises to relieve them from their distresses. To such we would say, trifle not with inexperienced men, but consult, without unnecessary delay, Dr. Von Eisenberg, who, at least, has the honesty to assure his patients whether it is in his power to make them whole or not.

HEARING RESTORED BY A SINGLE APPLICATION OF THE ÆSTHETICO-NEURALGICON. READ! READ!

NEW-YORK, May 4, 1865.

I have been induced, by the great number of certificates continually published in favor of Dr. Von Eisenberg's skill, to apply to him for advice concerning my deafness of many years' standing. I placed myself under his care, and to my utmost delight he made me hear perfectly well by a single painless application of Dr. Von Eisenberg's "Æsthetico-Neuralgicon." I have great pleasure in being able to state that his skill in restoring hearing surpasses anything I ever saw or heard of. His attention to the patient is highly commendable.

JOHN WAKELY, No. 104 Monroe-st.

MIRACULOUS CURE OF THE CHRONIC CATARRH, ASSUMING THE FORM OF CONSUMPTION.

I have been suffering for a long time from a severe Catarrh, with a continual dullness in my head, a tightness across my chest, and a weight over my eyes, which were weak, watery, and very painful. My nostrils were continually obstructed with a pouring of fluid. I had frequent sneezing, hoarseness of my voice, generally attended with spitting of blood. I have been treated by many eminent physicians without success. Recently the Catarrh became so offensive that I could not go into society. Hearing of DR. VON EISENBERG'S new invention, I thought I would apply to him as a last resource. Having been satisfied with his diagnosis, I submitted to his treatment, and have every reason to be abundantly satisfied, as I am completely cured, and my health so much renovated that I feel better than I felt for the last fifteen years. It is a blessing that experience gives the Doctor the power to restore such a shattered constitution to perfect vigor. I now feel very happy to be able to give this testimonial in favor of Dr. Von Eisenberg's inimitable skill.

RESTORATION OF SIGHT.

I, Lawrence Grenna, No. 186 East 36th-st., New-York City, have been suffering from blindness of the left eye for a considerable period. The eye was continually in a state of great inflammation, from which the good eye became affected, and, indeed, my general health was greatly injured by it. Hearing of Dr. Von Eisenbergs' great reputation, and as every one said mine was a hopeless case, I called on the Doctor, who, after examining me, undertook my case, and within a fortnight I found myself almost completely cured. It is now a month since I placed myself under Dr. Von Eisenberg's treatment, and I am happy to be able to state that the inflammation is entirely gone, so that I see perfectly with both eyes, added to which I am in good health—a blessing I have not enjoyed since I was blind. I do conscientiously and gratefully swear to the above statement, in a court of justice, at the City Hall of the City of New-York, the 10th day of October, 1864.

LAWRENCE GRENNA.

Sworn before me this 10th day of October, 1864.

MISS BRADDON AND THE SUNDAY MERCURY.

In accordance with a special contract with Miss M. E. Braddon, authoress of "Aurora Floyd," "Lady Audley's Secret," "Three Times Dead," "The Outcast," "Only a Clod," &c., &c., the proprietors of the SUNDAY MERCURY have received from that distinguished writer the ADVANCE SHEETS of a new romance, fresh from her pen, entitled

RUPERT GODWIN;
OR,
THE SECRET OF WILMINGDON HALL.

which she herself declares to be her "masterpiece."

THE OPENING CHAPTERS

of this most remarkable and unprecedented story

WILL APPEAR

to fascinate the imaginations of tens of thousands of readers, and whet the public appetite for further developments, in the

SUNDAY MERCURY
OF
TO-MORROW, DEC. 3.

It is almost needless to say that the

MONOPOLY OF THIS ROMANCE,

for the pages of the SUNDAY MERCURY, has necessarily involved great expense. In fact, a larger sum than any other weekly newspaper in America could afford to give for a serial story, has been paid for the advance sheets; but with a journal determined that nothing in the way of Literary Novelty, which money can procure, in EITHER HEMISPHERE, shall be wanting in its columns. One of the best critics of Romance now living, to whom the manuscript of the story was submitted before the proof-sheets were struck off for transmission to the SUNDAY MERCURY, pronounces

COMPETITION WAS USELESS

RUPERT GODWIN;
OR,
THE SECRET OF WILMINGDON HALL,

"decidedly the best and most entrancing production of Miss Braddon's marvelous genius." This is, indeed, high praise; for she is to-day, beyond question, the favorite novelist of the Seventy-five Millions of people who speak the Anglo-Saxon tongue. Each new work that she issues is in such demand that her publishers find it next to impossible to supply editions fast enough to meet the rush. She is completely "master of the situation" in England, asking and obtaining what price she pleases for her romances. Nor is this to be wondered at, for Miss Braddon is really a

LITERARY PHENOMENON.

As the Medicean Venus combines the separate perfections of all women, so she seems to combine in her style and matter the best attributes of many authors. Her plots are as deep and inscrutable, and her language often as lofty and soul-entrancing, as BULWER'S; her humor as infectious and irresistible as that of DICKENS; her pathos scarcely eclipsed by that of VICTOR HUGO; while in thrilling incident and wild adventure her narratives are not surpassed even by DUMAS. It is not surprising, therefore, that all the popular English Magazines are contending for her favors, and that in this country she has taken the lead of all other transatlantic writers of fiction. The first installment of "Rupert Godwin; or, The Secret of Wilmingdon Hall," will be found one of the most promising openings that the connoisseur in fiction has ever perused. But if the prelude excites wonder and curiosity, it is not too much to say that these feelings, mingled with admiration and sympathy, will increase with every succeeding chapter, to the end. Human ingenuity may be defied to guess the denouement, or to foresee the extraordinary, yet not incongruous chain of incidents which lead up to the grand finale. Mystery succeeds mystery, without transcending the possibilities of actual life; and the brain of genius, after spinning the magic web in which all hearts and imaginations will be caught, unravels the wondrous threads with the same facility with which it wove them.

The character of Capt. Harley Westford, the manly, noble-hearted, confiding sailor; of his tender and loving wife Clara, and their beautiful daughter Violette; of Rupert Godwin, the dark-minded and desperate financier, a dangerous man of strong passions, and vast capacities for evil; of his wily, silent, cold-blooded, and watchful clerk, Jacob Danielson; of Thornleigh, the mate of the Queen of the Lilies, and Capt. Westford's staunch and true-hearted friend, are each stamped with strong individualities in the opening chapters, and these individualities are maintained through all the vicissitudes of the story to the close. It is the great merit of Miss Braddon's personages that they never talk Miss Braddon. Every one of them, down to the most subordinate character in the plot, has a separate identity, which is always preserved. Therefore, they are realities to the reader, who recognizes them at once as actual men and women, not the mere vapory creations of a weak, unregulated fancy. They do nothing, say nothing, inconsistent with themselves. Their special characteristics, whether good or evil, are never lost sight of in the whirl of incident or the dark complications of the plot, and after having perused their history, sympathized with the good and shuddered at the turpitude of the bad, the reader remembers them less as the dramatis personæ of romance than as persons whose career he has watched, and with whose doings he has been familiar in society.

It is the gift and privilege of genius in this department of literature to bring out its figures in relief, so that one can never be confused with or mistaken for another, and in this particular Miss Braddon has no superior among living writers.

There is an immensity of cant and humbug said and written in these modern days about "sensation novelists," and "sensation novels." Bosh! What is a work of fiction for? Is it intended to put people to sleep, or to rouse and interest? Any fool who can write at all can write a flat story. The press teams with flat stories, good for nothing but to wrap groceries in or to line trunks. Who wants to read a didactic tale, dull and dismal as "Hervey's Meditations Among the Tombs?" When society desires solid reading it applies itself to standard, solid books. But novels are, or should be, works of imagination that appeal to the imagination, and stir and gratify the love of the marvelous, which exists, at least in a latent form, more or less, in every human breast. Those who admire heavy, commonplace stories—if any such there be—cannot of course, appreciate Miss Braddon, who is of the highest class—the class to which Bulwer, Wilkie Collins, Hugo and Dumas belong—and of the mediocres, of whose tame efforts Byron has well said that they are "so middling, bad were better."

NOT OF THE JOGTROT SCHOOL

RUPERT GODWIN;
OR,
THE SECRET OF WILMINGDON HALL,

is a work to stir the pulse without injuring the morals. It fulfills all the conditions of a popular romance.

GLOWING FANCY

sparkles on its every page. There is no straining after effect, and yet the effect produced is powerful. Once read, it can never be forgotten. It conveys a good lesson in a narrative of surpassing interest, and conducts the reader through to a conclusion which he could not by any possibility anticipate, and provides an abundance of

A MAZE OF ADVENTURE

AMUSEMENT ON THE ROAD.

Shakespeare says:
"One word of nature makes the whole world kin."

The wit, humor and pathos of this latest and greatest production of its most gifted authoress will have the same effect, and for the same reason; they are not forced, but genuine, and, therefore, they will

and find an echo in every breast. In fact, he or she who cannot relish the brusque and sparkling dialogue, the touches of deep feeling and the rare plot of "Rupert Godwin; or, The Secret of Wilmingdon Hall," is Only a Clod, and deserves to be Thrice Killed, if that were possible, for lack of soul and sentiment.

The story will be continued regularly from week to week, in the columns of the until concluded, and the vast regular editions of the paper—already thrice exceeding the combined issues of all the other Sunday newspapers, (so-called)—will be increased to meet the additional demand for it which the new romance cannot fail to create.

Let it be borne in mind that the proprietors of the SUNDAY MERCURY have purchased from Miss Braddon the

to the advance sheets of her new novel, and that it can be introduced to the American public through

NO OTHER MEDIUM.

The serial installments will be published SIMULTANEOUSLY WITH THE LONDON ISSUES in the

LEADING WEEKLY OF AMERICA,

and in no other paper on this side of the Atlantic.

In signalizing the closing days of the old year with the introduction of the greatest novel of the most popular female romancist of the age, the proprietors of the SUNDAY MERCURY would point to the past record of the paper as an evidence of what energy, enterprise, industry and capital can do in this country when judiciously applied. And yet this past record, brilliant as it is, must be considered rather as an indication than as a criterion of the future. In business prosperity the SUNDAY MERCURY to-day occupies as proud a position as any public journal in this country; and, with the amplest means at its command, intends to push on the column—or rather columns—until the GREAT SUNDAY NEWSPAPER, like the yacht America in the famous naval race, shall be so far first as to have no second, either in the United States or elsewhere.

The demand for the SUNDAY MERCURY, the circulation of which ALREADY EXCEEDS THAT OF ANY NEWSPAPER IN THE UNION, and MORE THAN TRIPLES THAT OF ALL THE OTHER SUNDAY PAPERS ISSUED IN NEW-YORK, will undoubtedly receive a new impulse from the publication of the story of

RUPERT GODWIN;
OR,
THE SECRET OF WILMINGDON HALL;

so that those who wish to secure a copy of the opening chapters must be on the alert to-morrow morning.

THE UNIVERSAL SUNDAY NEWSPAPER is obtainable in every city, town and village of the United States and Canadas; and it is hoped that the immense edition of to-morrow will be equal to the demand. Nevertheless, it will be well to for copies, in order to prevent disappointment.

Price of the SUNDAY MERCURY, (containing more matter than any daily or weekly in America,)

The subscribers are the oldest in this line of business, have the largest stock, and a selection of styles adapted to particular work, which cannot be had elsewhere. Our new method, just introduced, of securing the rubber in the groove of the moulding with insoluble cement, holds it tenaciously tight in every part, and gives our strips an easy superiority over those secured with tacks, which make a very imperfect fastening, and that only at intervals. Send for illustrated circular. We keep a number of selected workmen to apply these strips in the city and vicinity.

PULMONARY CONSUMPTION
BY DR. J. SCHENCK, of Philadelphia.
OF A YOUNG LADY WHO WAS IN ITS LAST STAGE.

She is now well and hearty, with a large hole in the middle of the right lung.

This case has attracted the attention of a great many medical men, who have visited her, and they have expressed great astonishment that a person with such a large cavity in the lung could be restored to robust health.

Dr. SCHENCK—Dear Sir: The following statement is due to you for the wonderful cure your medicines have made on me, and which may seem almost incredible to the public, but nevertheless is true. I lived in Stamford, Conn., and caught a heavy cold, which settled on my right lung. I grew worse and worse, in spite of all medical skill; had an incessant cough day and night, creeping chills, night-sweats, and no appetite. I gave up to die. My physician said that my lung was nearly gone, and that I must die; that no human power could save me. I came to New-York to reside with Mrs. Bartholomew. After I had been here a few days I was taken with a severe hemorrhage. I thought I would bleed to death. Mrs. Bartholomew related to me her own case—how bad she had been for over fourteen years, and cured by your medicines. She insisted that I must go with her, on the next Tuesday, down to your rooms, at No. 32 Bond-st. I went, and on seeing so many people with consumption, I got very nervous, and wished I was home again. In my turn, I was examined by you with your Respirometer, and after you had finished, I shall never forget your countenance; it said that my case was hopeless. You said that I had pulmonary consumption, and that in all your examinations you had never found one lung so far gone and the other so sound, and was afraid I must die. Mrs. B. said that she was certain that she had seen persons under your treatment as bad as I was when she first came to your rooms, and were cured by you. She insisted that I should try the medicines. You gave me all three, the Pulmonic Syrup, Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills—and told me exactly how to take them. They seemed to take hold of my lungs at once, and, with the cheering words of Mrs. B., I was greatly encouraged. I could raise large quantities of blood and matter from my lung. My appetite came to me. I gained flesh and strength. I think I have gained as much as thirty-five pounds. I raised no more blood. I am now well and hearty. No one, to see me now, would believe that I ever had consumption. Many have heard of my case and have called to see me. Several physicians have examined my lung, and all appeared to be astonished, for the lung was so diseased, has got such a peculiar roaring sound, that they cannot see how it was possible for such a cavity to be healed. My physician at Stamford examined me after my cure by you, and said he congratulated you very highly for the remarkable cure you had made of me. I am at Mrs. Bartholomew's, and will be happy to see any one who may see fit to call on me.

EMBRACING A SURVEY OF THE PRESENT STATE OF PROTESTANT THEOLOGY. By Rev. JNO. F. HURST, A. M. 1 vol. 8vo, $3 50.

The history of Rationalism is traced through all its stages of development down to the present time. The whole period passed over is about two centuries, and in giving a history of Rationalism during this time, it has been an object of the author to describe indirectly the state of Protestant Theology at the present time. The object of the work is to counteract the skepticism which is now coming into this country by showing the evils it has inflicted on other lands.

III.

ELEMENTS OF POLITICAL ECONOMY.

By ARTHUR LATHAM PERRY, Professor of History and Political Economy in Williams College. 1 vol., crown 8vo. Price $2 50.

This is a clear presentation of the facts and principles of Political Economy. It is believed to be equally adapted to the wants of teachers in their class-rooms, and to the general public, which is now demanding, as never before, information and discussion on this important subject. The topic of Money and Foreign Trade, as being practical questions now in agitation throughout the country, have received a very full treatment; and the late as well as the earlier financial experiments of the United States are fully considered in the light of the principles illustrated by it. The book has already in manuscript received the cordial approval of several distinguished teachers of political science.

Also, a new Edition, in octavo size, and elegantly printed, at the University Press, on extra finished paper.

FINE ARTS.

THE OUTBREAK OF THE REBELLION IN THE UNITED STATES, 1861.—The publishers would call especial attention of the public, as well as the trade, to this beautiful picture with the above title, published by us at a cost of several thousand dollars, and engaged the artist employed on it over five months in its production. The original sketch was submitted to the late President for his opinion, who declared it to be the best design he had ever seen, and expressed a desire to have a copy sent him soon as published. It is a picture full of life and interest to the American citizen, containing some hundred figures and correct portraits of the leading men conspicuous in fomenting the rebellion, as well as of those who successfully struggled for its suppression. No Union family should be without a copy of this beautiful picture. Sent to any part of the United States on receipt of the price, which is fixed at $2 50. Agents and canvassers wanted, to whom the most liberal arrangement will be made. Published by KIMMEL & FORSTER, Engravers and Publishers, Nos. 254 and 256 Canal-st., New-York City.

OUTBREAK OF THE REBELLION IN THE UNITED STATES, 1861.—The publishers would call especial attention of the public, as well as the trade, to this beautiful picture, size 24x30, with the above title, published by the proprietors at a cost of several thousand dollars, and which has engaged the artist over five months in its production.

The original sketch was submitted to the late lamented President, who declared it the best design he had seen, and expressed a desire to have a copy as soon as published; it is a picture full of life and interest to every American citizen; it contains some hundred figures and correct portraits of some of the leading men conspicuous in fomenting the late rebellion, as well as of those who successfully struggled for its suppression. No Union family should be without a copy. Copies sent to any part of the United States on receipt of the price, which is $2 50 per copy, with a descriptive key and copy of letter from President Lincoln to the publishers. Agents and canvassers wanted, to whom the most liberal terms will be offered.

MUSICAL.

CHICKERING & SONS,

MANUFACTURERS OF GRAND, SQUARE AND UPRIGHT PIANO-FORTES, NO. 652 BROADWAY.—The superiority of these instruments has of late been amply demonstrated by the voluntary testimony of the foremost artists of the day, who claim for them excellencies of tone and workmanship hitherto unobtained by any other makers.

Mr. GOTTSCHALK'S constant use of the NEW SCALE CHICKERING GRAND PIANO-FORTES has severely tested their musical qualities, and resulted in establishing the justice of the very flattering estimation in which they are held.

Messrs. CHICKERING & SONS are sole agents for the celebrated Alexandre Organs for the United States.

THE WEBER PIANO-FORTE is called the best instrument made by all the leading musicians of this city and elsewhere. It is pronounced by the National Piano-forte Association, after a trial in their rooms with the first manufacturers of this country, eminently the best piano in America, and used by the Conservatory of Music and other high music schools, altogether because of their immense power, equality, sweetness and brilliancy of tone, elastic touch and great durability. Warerooms No. 429 Broome-st., near Broadway.

THE MASON & HAMLIN CABINET ORGANS.—FORTY-FIVE GOLD or SILVER MEDALS or OTHER HIGHEST PREMIUMS have been awarded M. & H. within a few years, and TEN within the last four weeks, for THE BEST INSTRUMENTS OF THIS GENERAL CLASS.

Printed testimony is presented in their circulars from more than two hundred and fifty of the most eminent organists and musicians in the country that THE MASON & HAMLIN CABINET ORGANS ARE UNEQUALED. Prices, $110 to $600. Warerooms No. 596 Broadway, New-York.

STEINWAY & SONS'

GRAND, SQUARE AND UPRIGHT PIANO-FORTES,

are now acknowledged the best instruments in America as well as in Europe, having taken thirty-two First Premiums, Gold and Silver Medals, at the principal fairs held in this country within the last ten years, and in addition thereto they were awarded a First Prize Medal at the Great International Exhibition in London, 1862, in competition with two hundred and sixty-nine pianos from all parts of the world.

Among the many and most valuable improvements introduced by Messrs. STEINWAY & SONS in their Piano-fortes,

THE SPECIAL ATTENTION OF PURCHASERS is directed to their
PATENT AGRAFFE ARRANGEMENT.

The value and importance of this invention having been practically tested, in all their grands and highest-price square Piano-fortes, and admitted to be the greatest improvement of modern times, they now announce that they have determined to introduce their "Patent Agraffe Arrangement" in every Piano-forte manufactured by them, without increase of cost to the purchaser, in order that all their patrons may reap the full advantage of this great improvement.

Extract from the testimonial of the most distinguished Artists to STEINWAY & SONS:

Among the chief points of the uniform excellence of the STEINWAY Pianos are:

Greatest possible depth, richness and volume of tone, combined with a rare brilliancy, clearness, and perfect evenness throughout the entire scale, and, above all, a surprising duration of sound, the pure and sympathetic quality of which never changes under the most delicate or powerful touch.

We therefore consider the STEINWAY Pianos in all respects the best instruments made in this country or in Europe, use them solely and exclusively ourselves in public or private, and recommend them invariably to our friends and the public.

"Has the heart of woman ever sung its own joy and bitterness more perfectly than in the "Songs of Seven?"—GEO. WM. CURTIS.

The choicest of Holiday Gifts this season will be a
JEAN INGELOW'S
SONGS OF SEVEN,
ILLUSTRATED.

This justly celebrated and beautiful poem is descriptive of Seven Periods in the Life of Woman, viz.:

EXULTATION.......SEVEN YEARS
ROMANCE.......FOURTEEN YEARS
LOVE.......TWENTY-ONE YEARS
MATERNITY.......TWENTY-EIGHT YEARS
WIDOWHOOD.......THIRTY-FIVE YEARS
GIVING IN MARRIAGE.......FORTY-TWO YEARS
LONGING FOR HOME.......FORTY-NINE YEARS

The rhythms vary with the chimes of the different ages, always in tune with the joys and sorrows sung.

The illustrations, from designs by the best artists in England and America, are exquisite specimens of art, and the printing is in the best style of Welch, Bigelow & Co., of the University Press, Cambridge.

"A likeness on steel, with the autograph of the author, is also given. The face of Miss INGELOW is one to attract even in its repose. There is no fine frenzy in it. It is calm and gentle and womanly—a little pensive, if not sad. You feel, however, that it can be lighted up with flashing emotion, quiver with sympathy, or glow with inspiration, as the moved soul bids it speak out. Its expression, as fixed by the painter, is that of serene, slightly abstracted meditation."—Boston Transcript.

NEW PUBLICATIONS.

SUPERB NATIONAL GIFT BOOK.

THE HOME OF WASHINGTON
AND ITS ASSOCIATIONS,
HISTORICAL, BIOGRAPHICAL AND PICTORIAL.
New edition, revised, with additions.
BY BENSON J. LOSSING.

Illustrated with 150 Engravings, mainly from Original Drawings by the Author, embracing numerous Views of Mount Vernon, various interesting objects upon the Grounds, Copies of Famous Pictures, Portraits of Washington and other Members of the Family, as well as Distinguished Personages of his Time, etc.

This new edition of this popular national work has been carefully corrected, and very interesting additional matter with new engravings introduced. It contains very much valuable information, first published in this volume, relating to the Washington family, which Mr. Lossing's extensive acquaintance and superior facilities have enabled him to collect. This superb work is acknowledged to be one of the most important contributions to our historical literature, presenting a complete memorial of the private and domestic LIFE OF THE FATHER OF HIS COUNTRY. It is printed by Alvord, on superfine paper, delicately tinted and elegantly bound in heavy beveled boards, in new styles of binding, designed for the boudoir, parlor-table and home library.

From the American Literary Gazette.

It is in every respect a unique volume, for there is no other one which covers the same ground, and it is a companion to every other one which treats of the Father of his Country. It is manufactured in an unexceptionable style. The heavy paper is delicately tinted; the printing is in Mr. Alvord's best manner, and 140 graphic illustrations accompany the text. The book is now quite opportune. * * We feel that we are not only calling attention to a work of historical, literary and artistic merit, but we trust that we are also subserving the interest of patriotism when we invite attention to this beautiful volume.

OPINION OF EDWARD EVERETT.

This very interesting memorial of the home of Washington is a fit companion to Irving's valuable history, and should be included with it to make the library complete.

Small quarto, extra cloth, new designs, gilt sides and edges, $6 50. Morocco antique and gilt sides and edges, $10 50.

CONSTITUTION

LIFE SYRUP.

A positive and specific remedy for all diseases originating from an IMPURE STATE OF THE BLOOD, and for all (hereditary) DISEASES transmitted from PARENT TO CHILD.

SCROFULA,

STRUMA, GLANDULAR SWELLINGS,
ULCERATION, KING'S EVIL,
ERYSIPELAS, SALT RHEUM.

This taint, (HEREDITARY and ACQUIRED,) filling life with untold misery, is by all usual medical remedies incurable.

RHEUMATISM.

If there is any disease in which the Constitution Life Syrup is a sovereign, it is in rheumatism and its kindred affections. The most intense pains are almost instantly alleviated—enormous swellings are reduced. Cases, chronic or vicarious, of twenty or thirty years' standing, have been cured.

NERVOUSNESS.

NERVOUS DEBILITY, SHATTERED NERVES,
ST. VITUS' DANCE, LOSS OF POWER,
CONFUSION OF THOUGHTS, EPILEPSY.

Thousands who have suffered for years will bless the day on which they read these lines. Particularly to weak, suffering women will this medicine prove an inestimable blessing—directing their footsteps to a Hope which fulfils more than it promises.

MERCURIAL DISEASES.

SALIVATION. ROTTING OF BONES.
BAD COMPLEXION. ACHES IN BONES.
FEELING OF WEARINESS. DEPRESSION OF SPIRITS.

CONSTITUTION LIFE SYRUP purges the system entirely from all the evil effects of MERCURY, removing the Bad Breath, curing the Weak Joints and Rheumatic Pains which the use of Calomel is sure to produce. It hardens Spongy Gums and secures the Teeth as firmly as ever.

Constitution Life Syrup

Eradicates, root and branch, all Eruptive Diseases of the Skin, like

ULCERS, PIMPLES, BLOTCHES

And all other difficulties of this kind, which so much disfigure the outward appearance of both males and females, often making them a disgusting object to themselves and their friends.

CONSTITUTION LIFE SYRUP

Cures all Swelling of the Glands,

Either of the Face, Neck, or Female Breast, and should be taken as soon as the swelling is detected, thus preventing their breaking, and producing troublesome Discharging Sores, which disfigure so many of the younger portion of the community, from six to twenty years of age. Young children are very subject to Discharges from the Ears, which depends upon a Scrofulous constitution. These cases soon recover by taking a few doses of the Life Syrup.

All scrofulous persons suffering from general Debility, Emaciation, Dyspepsia and Dropsy of the limbs, abdomen, and in the female, Dropsy of the ovaries and womb, generally accompanied with Inflammation and Ulceration of the Uterus, are permanently cured by Constitution Life Syrup. The disease known as Goitre or Swelled Neck, the Life Syrup will remove entirely. The remedy should be taken for some time, as the disease is exceedingly chronic and stubborn, and will not be removed without extra effort.

Tumors of the Ovaries, Tumors of the Breast, and swelling of other glands of the body, will be completely reduced without resorting to the knife, or operations of any kind.

Epileptic Fits, Sympathetic or Organic Diseases of the Heart, as palpitation, Disease of the Valves, producing a grating or filing sound, Dropsy of the Heart Case and all the affections of this important organ, (persons suffering from any acute pain in the region of the heart) will be greatly relieved by Constitution Life Syrup.

Broken-down and Delicate Constitutions,

SUFFERING FROM INDISPOSITION TO EXERTION, PAIN IN THE BACK, LOSS OF MEMORY, FOREBODINGS, HORROR OF CALAMITY, FEAR OF DISEASE, DIMNESS OF VISION, DRY, HOT SKIN AND EXTREMITIES, WANT OF SLEEP, RESTLESSNESS, PALE, HAGGARD COUNTENANCE AND LASSITUDE OF THE MUSCULAR SYSTEM, all require the aid of the CONSTITUTION LIFE SYRUP.

FOR ALL FORMS OF

ULCERATIVE DISEASES,

Either of the NOSE, THROAT, TONGUE, SPINE, FOREHEAD OR SCALP, no remedy has ever proved its equal.

MOTH PATCHES upon the female face depending upon the diseased action of the liver are very unpleasant to the young wife and mother. A few bottles of Constitution Life Syrup will correct the secretion, and remove the deposit which is directly under the skin.

In diseases of the Liver, giving rise to Languor, Dizziness, Indigestion, Weak Stomach or an ulcerated or cancerous condition of that organ, accompanied with burning or other unpleasant symptoms, will be relieved by the use of CONSTITUTION LIFE SYRUP.

☞ As a general Blood-Purifying Agent, the Life Syrup stands unrivaled by any preparation in the world.

THE RICH AND POOR

are liable to the same diseases. Nature and Science has made the Constitution Life Syrup for the benefit of all.

PURE BLOOD

produces healthy men and women; and if the constitution is neglected in youth, disease and early death is the result.

POLITICAL.

JOHN HECKER FOR MAYOR.

THE CITIZENS' ASSOCIATION AND THEIR NOMINEE.

The following correspondence is submitted to the voters of New-York by the Citizens' Association, as furnishing the best possible reasons wherefore they should support John Hecker at the polls. Self-preservation demands a change; a thorough, searching reform in our municipal government. Such reform cannot be reached through party organizations. These, for years past, have controlled our city, and by their corrupt agency taxes have reached the enormous sum of eighteen millions of dollars per annum.

Unless party ties and affiliations can be forgotten, in order to save our property, our homes and our lives, which the remorseless "Ring" are wresting from us, we must suffer the consequences. The Citizens' Association has labored two years to accomplish these ends, and it is for the people now to second these efforts, or continue to live under a degraded and corrupt municipal government.

Reputable men have permitted themselves to be put forward by corrupt organizations for the purpose of defeating Mr. Hecker and destroying the reform movement. But it is to be hoped that no intelligent voter will be deluded into thus lending himself to work out his own certain destruction.

THE CITIZENS' ASSOCIATION OF NEW-YORK, No. 813 BROADWAY, Nov. 13, 1865. }

John Hecker, Esq.:

DEAR SIR: The Citizens' Association, impressed with the importance of intrusting the Mayoralty of this great metropolis to an able, upright, public-spirited man, and, recognizing in your past life the qualities desired, have nominated you for Mayor, and pledge you their cordial support at the approaching Charter Election.

The degrading and ruinous sway of political factions, and of unscrupulous men under which the city has suffered vast evils for years, enforced the necessity of organized and earnest efforts to elevate to municipal offices those who are qualified to represent, protect and develop the great commercial, industrial, financial and social interests of the city, and who will apply to public duties and trusts the same moral and economical principles which win success and honor in private enterprise.

Your well-known life and character assure us of the fitness of our nomination. You need only devote to the Mayoralty the abilities which have been rewarded with success in private life, to insure to this city a future of elevated progress and improvement, and to yourself the plaudits of a grateful people.

Respectfully yours, JAMES BROWN,
President of the Citizens' Association.
ROBERT B. ROOSEVELT, Secretary.

GENTLEMEN: Your letter of the 13th inst., informing me that the Citizens' Association have been pleased to name me as their candidate for Mayor, at the coming charter election, is received.

I am sincerely gratified that so numerous and influential a body of my fellow-citizens as the Citizens' Association, including gentlemen whose sound judgment and moral worth are so highly esteemed by the public, together with some thousands of others who have signed their names ratifying my nomination, have thought me qualified for the duties of so important an office; and that they have seen in my past life indications of the conscientiousness which should animate every public officer.

I accept the nomination, with thanks to you for the honor conferred, and should my fellow-citizens see fit to ratify it by their votes, no pains nor effort upon my part shall be spared, so far as the legitimate powers of the Mayoralty extend, to secure a vigorous, honest and economical City Government.

In giving this pledge I depend, not upon ability or strength of purpose of my own, but upon the aid which my fellow-citizens, who desire a good government, will give me, and still more, upon the assistance of Almighty God, to whom I have learned to look for guidance and support in every undertaking. I am, very respectfully, yours,
JOHN HECKER.

We, the undersigned, cordially indorse the nomination of JOHN HECKER, Esq., made by the Citizens' Association, for Mayor, and pledge ourselves to use our efforts and influence for his election.
